BATTLE FOR MOSCOW IN SERIOUS PHASE

VOTERS OF CITY TO DECIDE TWO TAX QUESTIONS

Municipal, School Levies
Being Urged To Assist
Depleted Treasuries

MAYOR TO BE CHOSEN

Polls To Open At 6:30
A. M. Tuesday; Judges
Given Supplies

With election of a new mayor and two special tax levies the most important features facing them, Circleville voters today were ready to march to the polls starting at 6:30 a. m. Tuesday to cast their ballots.

From all indications the vote in Circleville will be a large one, city and school officials carrying on intense campaigns in an effort to get out the vote. They point to serious financial conditions if their two-mill levies do not pass, declaring that numerous reductions in departments that have already been slashed to the bone will be necessary. A breakdown in city law enforcement, fire protection, street lights and hospital service will come, city officials declare, unless voters give their issue a 65 percent margin.

School executives point to numerous needed improvements to correct conditions that even now are far from favorable so far as welfare of the city's children is concerned.

The school issue needs a 51 percent total of the vote cast. In the municipal race, Ben H. Gordon, Democratic nominee, will oppose A. J. Lyle, chosen by the Republican party as its standard-bearer. Gordon is chairman of council's finance committee. He defeated Mayor W. B. Cady for the nomination. Lyle, who is deputy registrar of motor vehicles for Circleville, gained the nomination without opposition.

Other Contests
Several other races are being made in Circleville. First Ward council being contested between J. D. Mason, Democratic incumbent, and George A. Flisell, Republican; Fourth Ward council being sought by Boyd Horn, Democrat, and O. L. Ferguson, Republican, and city treasurer being asked by John Hinrod, Democratic incumbent, and Charles Kirkpatrick, Republican.

Lynch Voices Appeal
Councilman-at-Large Frank A. Lynch, who has been leading the campaign to gain approval of the two-mill levy for Circleville operating expenses, issued the following statement Monday:
"As chairman of the Publicity Committee of Council, I assure all

'Fortress' Breaks Up; Eight Escape Death

TOMMY Graham, above, a Salisbury, Md., cartoonist, set some sort of hitch-hiking record when he made the trip from Salisbury to the Pacific coast in 13 days without walking a step. Thomas credits his oil can suitcase for the lifts he received. Drivers thinking him a fellow motorist who ran out of gas invariably stopped. When Tommy explained he was a cartoonist seeking a Hollywood animated cartoon career they would give him a lift, anyway. The oil can really contained his wardrobe—three pairs of pants, three shirts, underwear, socks and a tray of toilet articles.

WHEELER WARNS AGAINST A. E. F. AS "SUICIDAL"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 — Declaring that it would be "suicide" to send an A.E.F. to Europe in America's present unprepared condition, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont. non-interventionist leader, today rallied forces for a showdown this week in the senate on proposed Neutrality Act revision.

As the Senate entered its seventh day of debate on the administration measure permitting arming of ships and allowing them to enter belligerent ports, Wheeler refused to concede defeat.

Administration leaders, however, predicted a final vote Wednesday or Thursday, with votes to spare. Sen. Connally (D) Texas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that the administration has enough pledged votes to assure passage.

The U. S. Navy, Wheeler said, is certain to be ordered to escort convoys to British ports if the bill passes. This means more ships sunk and more American lives lost, he declared, with a cry for a second A.E.F.

"We haven't got the ships to send an A.E.F. to Europe, and we haven't got the planes," Wheeler said.

YALE STUDENTS CHARGED WITH HURTING POLICEMAN

MINEOLA, N. Y., Nov. 3 — Charged with beating up a policeman and breaking his arm, two socially prominent Yale graduates, Newell Phipps Weed Jr., 23, Hartford, Conn., and Ewing Philbin Jr., 21, Nassau, N. Y., were held in the Mineola jail without bail today.

The two youth, now training as naval flying cadets, were arrested four hours after Patrolman Edward Lynch reported to headquarters that he had been assaulted. At the hospital, Lynch, who had severe head injuries, was said to be in a critical condition.

Questioned, Philbin and Phipps said they had been drinking but refused to admit the assault charge.

Two Fliers Dead, Four Lost And Four Planes Are Reported Wrecked

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 — Eight Army airmen from a B-17 bomber which broke apart when bucking a storm over the high Sierras were reported safe today, leaving two Army pilots dead, four missing and four planes wrecked as the result of a heavy storm in northern California.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith telephoned authorities at Placerville, Cal., that he understood six men from the bomber were located at a cattle camp some 26 miles west of Lake Tahoe. One of them, Pvt. Harold Salisbury of Bangor, Me., was injured, according to the report.

Earlier two crew members, Corp. Sterling Isom of Hurricane, Utah, and Pvt. Aldon H. Stookey of Corning, Cal., had parachuted safely and reached the Georgetown ranger station where they joined a party that set out to hunt for other survivors.

Still missing from the crew was the pilot, Lieut. L. M. H. Walker, who stayed with his ship until the other eight men parachuted to safety.

Found by the searching party from Georgetown early today in the Sierra wilds were Lieut. J. R. Mode, co-pilot, Fort Worth, Tex.; Staff Sgt. Eugene M. Clemens, Chamberlain, S. D.; Corp. Walter B. Glanz; Pvt. First Class Harold Salisbury, Bangor, Me.; Pvt. First Class Fred E. Pekuri, Portland, Ore.; Pvt. Robert V. Mosley, Columbus, Neb.

Mosley, Pekuri and Stookey were taken to the Placerville hospital for treatment. Mosley was the most severely injured of the trio, with a possible skull fracture.

One Engine Found
The searching party was unable to find any of the bomber's wreckage, except one engine that had been torn off the plane while it still was high in the air. The

IL DUCE HURLS NEW THREAT AT FRENCH PEOPLE

ROME, Nov. 3 — Addressing the Garibaldi Legion at Mons Janiculum just outside Rome, Premier Mussolini addressed a new infernal threat to conquered France today.

Referring to the fight for Italian unification in the 19th century, Il Duce declared:

"French Republican rifles in 1849 and French Imperial rifles in 1867 achieved 'marvelous' results on the defenseless breasts of the Garibaldians.

"No one must draw arbitrary conclusions from our long and sometimes necessary silence."

The occasion for the address was the transfer of the remains of Goffredo Mameli, Italian national hero who was killed by the French.

ARKANSAS RIVER MENACING MANY TOWNS ON BANKS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 3 — As thousands of lowland refugees from Arkansas and Oklahoma taxed state and federal relief agencies, the swollen Arkansas River brought new flood dangers to towns along its banks today as it rose to the highest level in many years.

A high water mark for recent decades was set at Fort Smith, Ark., last night when the river rose to above 37 feet and flooded between 50 and 100 blocks of the city.

The crest then moved downstream, carrying its threat to Dardanelle and Morrilton, where flood workers kept anxious eyes on heavily burdened levees.

Crop damage in the Oklahoma-Arkansas flood areas was estimated as high as $10,000,000.

(Eight deaths were counted in Oklahoma over the week end from widespread inundations resulting from weeks of exceptionally heavy rains. Floods also were forecast in Iowa, where the Des Moines and Raccoon Rivers were beginning to spill over their banks in many places.)

NAVY GIVEN 290 MORE BOATS FOR SERVICE AT SEA

President Puts Name On Order Sending Coast Guard Into Action

ANSWER TO SUB'S ACT

Many Long-Range Airplanes To Be Available For Scouting Duty

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 — Transfer of the entire U. S. Coast Guard to the Navy under an executive order signed by President Roosevelt today gave the Navy 290 more ships, mostly cutters, to patrol the Atlantic in the chief executive's announced determination to clear the seas of Nazi "rattlesnakes."

The transfer is regarded in Washington as the United States' answer to the torpedoing and sinking of the U. S. S. Reuben James, a destroyer, last week, and previous U-boat attacks on the destroyers Kearny and Greer.

Besides giving the Navy more auxiliary craft, the order also transferred the coast guard's 60 airplanes to the fleet. Most of them are long-range patrol ships that can be converted into bombers. The coast guard's 21,700 officers and men automatically became a part of the Navy.

To Be Useful as Patrols

Most of the coast guard ships, it is believed, will be used in ocean patrol duty. The coast guard has some 270 reserve vessels, mostly yachts and small boats, at its call, and the latter vessels are expected to be mustered into the Navy as quickly as possible for shore patrol work, leaving the regular coast guard vessels free to range far into the Atlantic.

The transfer implemented President Roosevelt's speech last Monday night in which he said "damn the torpedoes," and pledged

BERLIN — German bombers during the night sank a 4,000-ton freighter off the English coast and damaged "several" others totaling 28,000 tons so seriously that they may be considered lost, the high command announced today. Earlier, German authorities announced that U-boats and Luftwaffe bombers wiped out 441,300 tons of enemy shipping in the Atlantic during October.

LONDON—The Air Ministry announced today that large formations of R. A. F. bombers pounded the great Italian port of Naples and the Sicilian seaport of Palermo for more than six hours Friday night. At Palermo, a drydock and a seaplane base were hit, and an enemy merchant vessel in the Mediterranean was sunk.

On Destroyer

LIEUT. COMM. Heywood L. Edwards was in command of the U. S. destroyer Reuben James when the warship was torpedoed and sunk in the North Atlantic. The ship was engaged in convoy duty, according to the Navy Department.

FATE OF 76 ON 'REUBEN JAMES' STILL IN DOUBT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 — For the third consecutive day, the Navy Department said that it had "no word" as to the fate of the 76 American seamen missing from the destroyer Reuben James which was torpedoed and sunk west of Iceland.

While no further reports have been received since Friday night when word was flashed that 44 of the destroyer's crew of 120 had been rescued, Navy officials still held forth the possibility that more of the missing men may have been saved from the icy Atlantic and are being taken safely to port.

The convoy which the James was escorting is under a radio "blackout" and the Navy said it was unlikely that further word would be sent until the ships have reached port.

Meanwhile Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, was asked by delegates at a two-day convention of the America First Committee to start an investigation in the incident.

The request, contained in a letter from Amos R. E. Pinchot, New York attorney, was unanimously endorsed by the 227 chapter chairmen and delegates present.

REICH ORDERS FRESH TROOPS INTO ASSAULT

Kronstadt Guns Heard; Germans Sweeping Through Crimea; First Blows Struck At Caucasus; Sevastopol Menaced

BERLIN, Nov. 3—Fall of Rostov-on-Don, gateway to the Caucasus, is imminent, German military spokesmen declared today. Rostov-on-Don, terminus of the vital pipeline through which oil runs from the rich Caucasian fields to the Soviet Army, has been under direct attack for more than a week by German troops sweeping through the southern Ukraine around the shores of the Sea of Azov.

KUIBYSHEV, U.S.S.R., Nov. 3—The bloody battle for Moscow hit a new peak of fury today as the Germans suddenly threw fresh reserves on tanks, guns and men into the gigantic conflict.

A Moscow radio broadcast, reporting that Nazi reinforcements were being hurled into action, stated: "The battle for the capital has entered its most serious phase."

Earlier a Soviet broadcast said the German assault on Moscow had been "halted at all points." But Russian authorities admitted the situation in the Crimean Peninsula was growing critical.

Russia claimed the Germans have lost at least 4,000,000 men since the conflict began 19 weeks ago.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 3 — Heavy gunfire at the Soviet naval base of Kronstadt in the Gulf of Finland was reported in dispatches to Stockholm today.

A Helsinki dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen, reporting the cannonading, said it was believed the Soviet Baltic fleet is "shooting its way out to the west before the Hango Peninsula falls."

Other reports from Helsinki said Finnish and German troops are 14 miles from Murmansk, an important northern Russian seaport, and are preparing to launch an offensive on the Kola Peninsula.

BERLIN, Nov. 3—While German armies swept across the Crimea, German authorities declared the Nazi Luftwaffe struck its first blows today at the rich oil-producing Soviet Caucasus.

Reaping the fruits of the Crimean advance, officials said, German bombers roared across the Black Sea and heavily bombed Novorossisk at the foot of the Caucasian mountains.

As the Luftwaffe once more struck deep into Russian territory from bases close behind the advancing armies, the high command announced smashing blows at Sevastopol and Kerch in the Crimea and capture of the important industrial and railway town of Kursk, 300 miles south of Moscow.

German authorities said Novorossisk was the "last remaining Soviet Black Sea naval port," and declared the latest Luftwaffe raid had "sounded" the death-knell for the remains of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

Sevastopol Under Fire

The great Soviet Crimean naval base of Sevastopol, already heavily bombed, was declared under fire from approaching German land armies and Kerch likewise was reported under artillery fire. Kerch is situated on the Crimean shore of the Sea of Azov, within easy aerial striking distance of important centers in the Caucasus.

Driver of the car which struck the lad was Max Sark of Ashville, Patrolman Alva Shasteen said.

Richard, with his mother and sister, had been to church and were returning home. The boy had gone into a store to buy a Sunday paper while his mother and sister walked ahead. As the youth crossed Watt Street, the Sark automobile turned from North Court Street into Watt, striking the youth and knocking him to the street.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT TWO-MILL LEVY

Editor's Note: Additional questions and answers on the two-mill levy for city operating expenses follow:

QUESTION: On the two previous occasions council asked for a new tax levy for the City of Circleville the people were told that unless the levy was passed the street lights would be reduced in candlepower or discontinued entirely. Why were not all the lights turned off?

ANSWER: Council did reduce the strength of all street lights, thereby reducing the yearly cost by nearly $3000. However, you must remember that this City is spread over a large territory, it covers several miles. Many citizens with large families live in all parts of the city. Some families number all the way from 6 to 12 persons. Many do not have automobiles. They are obliged to walk to meetings, church gatherings, visit the sick, and have a hundred other reasons why they must go out on our streets at night, even if it is in the early part of the night, say from 6 to 10 p. m. If you have only one child who must go on an errand after dark, afout, would you not prefer to have some lights (as now) than for your children to travel our streets when it is cloudy and pitch dark and no lights at all. Not all our citizens can own automobiles but must walk. Children must run errands for a sick mother, etc. Even if you have six children, you do not want to lose one of them, but always wait patiently for their return. Many accidents happen when we have plenty of lights, you know what can and will happen when the entire city is in darkness the year around.

The time has arrived when action must be taken either by the voters or by council.

If you, the voters want your streets lighted you must vote for the two-mill levy for the CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, tomorrow.

If this levy is not passed tomorrow, council must do what its members have been so bitterly fighting against. TURN OFF ALL STREET LIGHTS.

NEW SYSTEM OF LOANS DISCLOSED BY LOCAL FIRM

At a meeting in Lima, Saturday, of 220 managers and executive heads of The City Loan, a state-wide lending organization, C. G. Chalfin, manager of The City Loan branch office in Circleville, attended the meeting together with his assistant, T. S. Lindsey.

Effective November 1, a new type of loan is being made available. It is said to be the first loan of its kind ever offered by any financial institution in the country. It is called a "Self-Defense" loan which aptly describes its purpose. This new "Self-Defense" loan is a personal loan made in any amount from $100 to $1000, the proceeds of which are wholly or partially used for any of the following accepted "Self-Defense" purposes: 1. Buying needed merchandise and supplies. 2. Paying bills and obligations (except to lenders). 3. Making repairs and betterments. 4. For educational purposes. 5. Medical, dental and hospital services; Or for any other approved purpose.

The main feature and benefit to the customer is that the "Self-Defense" portion of every loan made by The City Loan is interest free for the first three months after date. The money, of course, must be used for an approved "Self-Defense" purpose in order to gain the free-interest advantage.

The company's policy in defining the wide range of purposes for which "Self-Defense" loans may be used is in keeping with the loan-purpose requirements recently included in the new federal credit regulations. According to Mr. Chalfin, any loan that is used for a worthy and beneficial purpose which does not over-burden the borrower and wherein the money is used to fill a definite need, may be classified as a "Self-Defense" loan.

VOICE ... of the ... PEOPLE

Editor of Circleville Herald

I wonder if the people who will vote Tuesday, November 4, really know for what purpose Circleville public schools are asking for additional two-mill levy.

We want this money because: 1. The state has demanded we increase toilet facilities in our schools in Circleville. This would cost not less than $3000.

2. The furnace at High Street School was installed 48 years ago. I am sure anyone will grant that its safety and utility are doubtful. That means at least $3000.

3. Almost for 50 years, Franklin Street School has not had ample school play ground facilities, and they have deteriorated into such a condition that they have become a menace to the neighbors and a danger to the school children. This alone will cost $4000.

4. The retaining wall that holds in the school grounds at Walnut Street School is in such a condition that the neighbors complain that it is not safe to walk along side walk. They are right. It needs repair. New installation would cost $3500.

5. The roof on Corwin Street Building is in such poor condition that water by bucket-fuls in severe rain practically close classes in the rooms affected by it. This certainly is not an asset and not to be proud of. This would cost us close to $900.

6. In this period of national and local emergencies, prices have gone up. School supplies have increased 33 1/3%, which means that it will cost much more to operate in the coming school year.

You will note these estimated improvements are not additions, but simply trying to put properties in better condition. These improvements will total $14,400.

The income from the Two-Mill Levy will be at most $17,800. You will note that this will leave only $3,400 difference after we make the improvements. Please note also that the above six instances take no consideration whatever in increase in teachers' salaries. The Circleville City Schools are asking nothing but what is necessary. The confidence the public has had in our school system in granting past requests for levies is certainly evidence of the confidence they have in us.

Goodness knows that the cost per pupil to train them in Circleville City Schools is low enough when you realize that no school system in Pickaway County has such low cost. The records show that the cost per pupil for education per year is as follows:

Circleville	$54.99
Pickaway County	$94.63
Ohio Cities	$92.67
State of Ohio	$87.68

Yet we still remain a class A school, and how we do it, we don't know or why. It is a miracle, it is a mystery, it is just good luck. For instance, out of nine cities comparative to City of Circleville, our state of Ohio neighbors, in fact, we have the lowest school tax rate of them all. Here they are by comparison. They speak for themselves.

Circleville	$ 6.45
Chillicothe	7.80
Delaware	8.45
Greenfield	10.70
Hillsboro	9.10
Lancaster	9.10
Logan	6.80
Washington C. H.	8.55
Wilmington	7.40

From the foregoing, you have a right to be proud of the result we have obtained at so little cost. As members of your Board of Education, I for one am ashamed. We can not always be so lucky. We can not without additional finances hope to hold our standard. We can not without the money from Two-Mill Levy hope to see our pupils comfortable, our school properties in fairly decent shape or economical to operate. I offer no further apologies. I make no further appeal, but as the outgoing president and member, after 12 years of service, I ask you as a citizen of Circleville and neighbor of mine and one who appreciates the value of an education, that you do not hesitate to vote YES Tuesday, November 4 in favor of the Two-Mill Levy.

Lawrence E. Goeller

Editor, Circleville Herald

Dear Sir:

Because of the importance to all Circleville women of the Circleville tax levy to be presented to the voters Tuesday, November 4, we feel that the following report, prepared for and presented to the Monday Club, will be of interest to your readers.

The Monday Club selected a committee of three to meet with the City Council Publicity Committee, to render them any assistance possible and to present to the Club facts drawn from attendance at the Council meetings.

The following represent our reasons for support of the tax levy of two mills for two years:

I.—During the last decade, receipts to the General Tax fund have steadily decreased until now the Fund receives $20,000 less each year than in 1931. This decrease in revenue has been due to two factors: first, the tax rate for the General Fund has been lowered from 4.55 mills in 1931 to 3.60 mills in 1940-41; second, the reappraisal of real estate made during the depression removed $1,500,000 from the tax duplicate. The combination of lowered tax rate and lowered valuation means simply that there is less money coming in to the General Fund.

II.—At the same time, expenditures in certain quarters have had to be increased, due to legislation passed by the State Legislature. This legislation is mandatory and expenses must be met from the General Fund, although there is no provision for a new source of revenue. These new requirements include: Workmen's Compensation to be paid by the City on all City employees, Police and Firemen's Pensions Fund, in which the City is required to match payments made by employees, Public Employees Retirement System, which has the same requirements as above, the 48 hour week for police which will necessitate the addition of three policemen to keep the service at its present level of service.

III.—In the City of Circleville, there are many homes where women are living alone. If our street lighting facilities are further curtailed, and the amount of police protection afforded is even more reduced from its present inefficiency, the dangers of house-breaking, burglary and personal molestation will be greatly increased. It is vitally necessary that Circleville provide adequate protection of the women and children who reside here.

IV.—Berger Hospital is an institution which has done an untold amount of good in this community. No matter how economically city hospitals are operated, they require money from the city treasury. It is our duty as citizens to preserve and increase the life-saving powers of the hospital.

VI.—Members of the Monday Club take an especial pride in our Public Library. In this instance, Circleville has a service far superior to that afforded its citizens by any neighboring city. Through the operation of the Book Truck, books are going out to one-third of the population of Pickaway County. The value of the Library in the Community is beyond reckoning in dollars and cents. We are resolved to preserve and increase the present high quality of library service.

As women of Circleville, we desire to further the cause of public service to the community. For this reason, above all, we purpose to vote for the tax levy and to support all other measures necessary for the maintenance of a high standard of public welfare. Our City and our City Schools must not deteriorate in service.

We respectfully submit to the City authorities the proposal that every item of public spending be subjected to close scrutiny and consideration in the interests of economical administration, and that matters of urgent necessity, such as the requirements for raising the efficiency of all public employees, and the consideration of such problems as the housing conditions in our city, meet with immediate attention.

Respectfully submitted,
Johnna T. Davis, Chairman

11 STATES SEND HUSKERS TO VIE FOR U. S. HONOR

TONICA, Ill., Nov. 3—On the lush acres of the Theodore Schaefer farm, an estimated 75,000 persons gathered today to witness the corn belt's own "world series"—the National Corn Husking Contest.

Twenty-two contestants, the champions and runners-up from 11 states, were ready for the 80 minute battle—a gruelling test both of conditioning and skill.

Floyd Wise, shucking before the home folk of La Salle County, was the favorite to win today by virtue of the phenomenal record he set in winning the Illinois championship Friday when, despite miserable weather conditions, he weighed in with 50.96 bushels, the best mark ever made in any state or national contest.

It was doubted, however, that Wise's record would be equaled today as the field in which he made it had a yield of 110 bushels to the acre, while the field the huskers worked today had an estimated yield of 85 bushels per acre. A brisk wind yesterday dried out the field which was a quagmire Friday. Nevertheless the competitors took a tip from Wise and had tennis shoes ready in the event of rain. Wise discarded his heavy farm boots Friday and slipped on a pair of canvas sneakers which kept him from miring so deeply in the sticky black mud.

HAMDEN, O., MAN TO FACE VINTON COUNTY CHARGE

A thirty-two-year-old man from Hamden came to police headquarters Saturday night to ask for lodging and a few minutes later was locked in the jail and held for the Vinton County sheriff.

The man gave his name as Mora Easter, and when Traffic Officer Miller Fissell asked him for his draft registration card he said he had none. A telephone call was put through to authorities in Easter's home town and it was

24 NAVY MEN STATIONED AT CHICAGO BECOME ILL

CHICAGO, Nov. 3—Twenty-four of the 1,000 Navy men stationed at the Navy pier in Chicago were hospitalized and under observation today following a mysterious outbreak of "stomach disorders" among men at the pier.

Lt. Comdr. G. B. Turner, senior duty officer at the pier, where sailors are being trained as metal smiths and aviation machinists, said chemical analyses of food served to the men were being made in the belief one of the foods may have been responsible for the outbreak.

When first complaints began to be received last night, Commander Turner moved swiftly to round up all sailors on leave in the city. In five hours more than 400 men were returned to barracks for examination as the result of a mass "roundup" of bluejackets in the Chicago loop district. City police cooperated with naval authorities in the roundup.

Announcing OUR NEW SELF DEFENSE LOANS

"Did you say INTEREST FREE?"

"Yes, I said INTEREST FREE for the first three months of your loan!"

SELF-DEFENSE is one of the very best bulwarks of national defense. Defend yourself and you defend America. And so today, at this time of emergency in our national defense, we wish to announce our new "SELF-DEFENSE" loans... as a means of helping Ohio people to help themselves.

Just What is a "SELF-DEFENSE" loan?
It's a loan of any amount from $100 up to $1000 used for any helpful "Self-Defense" purpose, such as: 1. Buying needed merchandise and supplies. 2. Paying bills and obligations (except to lenders). 3. Making repairs and betterments. 4. Educational purposes. 5. Medical, dental and hospital services. Or for any other approved purpose.

And Here's the Best News of All.
Your "SELF-DEFENSE" loan is entirely interest free for the first three months. Think of it! A cash loan of $200 made to you today and repaid in three months doesn't cost you a single penny. Or you can repay in easy payments over as long as 18 months, and get the first three months free anyway.

There's No "Catch" To It.
After the three free months, The City Loan's standard interest rate applies, computed on the new low balance each month—same as always. Also the same liberal discounts for prompt payment will be continued. The one big change is that for the duration of the first three, long and most-expensive months a "SELF-DEFENSE" loan is absolutely interest free.

And Here's Something Else.
You will not only save three months' interest on merchandise and services acquired, but by dealing with cash, you can drive better bargains, gain better values and save money all the way around. So, fortify yourself by using this new "SELF-DEFENSE" service now, the first of its kind ever offered in this country... and it's yours for the asking at The City Loan.

We're all set to make 100's and 1000's of "SELF-DEFENSE" loans both in numbers and dollars. Anybody of good character with a good purpose and a steady income can get one. Just tell us how much you need.

WHY IS THE CITY RECEIVING LESS MONEY FROM REAL ESTATE TAXES THAN IT DID IN 1930-31?

In 1931 Circleville received $55,725.75 in its General Fund from real estate tax.

In 1940 Circleville received $32,381.01 in its General Fund from real estate tax.

In 1941 Circleville expects to receive only about $27,000.00 from real estate tax, OR LESS THAN HALF IT RECEIVED IN 1931.

WHY????

In 1932 the 15 mill limitation was reduced 10 mills—1-3 less. In 1931 real estate valuation in Circleville was $7,764,310.00. In 1934 it was reappraised and today the real estate valuation is $6,224,460.00—MORE THAN $1,500,000.00 LESS PROPERTY ON WHICH TAXES ARE PAID.

In 1930 the tax rate was 19.70 mills or $19.70 per thousand—including county, township, schools and city. In 1941 the rate is 15.20 mills or $15.20 per thousand—$4.50 PER THOUSAND LESS.

THE TAX RATE IS NOT ONLY $4.50 PER THOUSAND LESS BUT THERE IS $1,500,000.00 LESS REAL ESTATE ON THE TAX DUPLICATE.

Taxes are no longer charged on household furnishings and automobiles by the City.

Intangible taxes all came to the City in 1930. Now 80% must go to the public library.

All utility taxes and beer, malt and admission taxes must be used for relief.

All gasoline and auto license tax revenues must go for the maintenance of streets in the City, and for no other purpose.

WHAT WILL THE TWO MILL LEVY COST THE PEOPLE OF CIRCLEVILLE?

Persons who own a home which is valued on the tax duplicate for $500 will pay ONLY 8½ CENTS PER MONTH in 1942 and 1943.

Property valued at $1000 will be taxed ONLY 17 CENTS PER MONTH in 1942 and 1943.

ISN'T IT WORTH THE COST OF A PACKAGE OF CIGARETTES PER $1000 VALUATION TO HAVE YOUR HOME, YOUR FAMILY AND YOUR FUTURE PROTECTED BY THE POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS—TO HAVE ADEQUATE STREET LIGHTS, SEWERS, AND FIRE HYDRANTS—AND TO HAVE THE USE OF THE MEMORIAL HALL AND PUBLIC LIBRARY? ALL FOR 17 CENTS PER MONTH PER $1000 VALUATION!!

How much will your landlord be justified in raising your rent if you are a tenant?

The following figures TELL THE STORY:

Tax Value of Property	Rent You Pay Now Per Month	New Taxes Per Month	Rent in 1942 and 1943
$ 500	$ 5.00	10 cents	$ 5.10
$ 800	$ 8.00	15 cents	$ 8.15
$1000	$10.00	20 cents	$10.20
$1500	$15.00	25 cents	$15.25
$2000	$20.00	35 cents	$20.35
$3000	$30.00	50 cents	$30.50

If the two mill levy does not pass and fire protection is reduced, your INSURANCE RATES WILL INCREASE MORE THAN THE AMOUNT OF THE ADDITIONAL TAX AND RENTS WILL BE HIGHER THAN THEY WOULD BE UNDER THE TWO MILL LEVY? ASK YOUR INSURANCE MAN IF THIS IS NOT A FACT!!!

CITY of CIRCLEVILLE!

WHY DOES IT COST MORE TO OPERATE THE CITY TODAY THAN IT DID 10 YEARS AGO?

1. Workmen's Compensation must be paid by state law on all city employees.
2. Police and Firemen's Pension Funds must be established under state law.
3. The Public Employees' Retirement Law requires the city to match payments made by city employees,—another state law.
4. Insurance laws required more firemen,—1 firemen for each 1000 population. We still need two more firemen in order to comply.
5. Police can only work 8 hours per day on a six day week by state law. This means that at times we only have ONE POLICEMAN ON DUTY as we do not have the money to employ more, and will not be able to pay for those we have.
6. Construction of new homes and industries means additional sewers, street lights and fire hydrants.
7. Berger Hospital, even though efficiently and economically operated, loses money each year as do all hospitals. This deficit must be paid each year.
8. As the city grows new streets and alleys must be created and surfaced. Increased automobile traffic means more maintenance.
9. The State Board of Health required the city to build a sewage disposal plant. Bonds were issued and must be paid back with interest. This means less money for operating and current expenses.

THUS NOT ONLY DOES THE CITY HAVE A BIGGER OPERATING COST BUT IT HAS ONLY HALF AS MUCH MONEY TO OPERATE ON. THIS MEANS THAT EITHER MORE MONEY MUST BE OBTAINED OR THE CITY GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE TO VIRTUALLY GO OUT OF BUSINESS!!! THERE IS NO OTHER ANSWER.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF THE TWO MILL LEVY DOES NOT PASS?

If the two mill levy for two years does not pass, all city departments will have to be seriously reduced. Policemen will either have to work part time without pay or be dismissed. The fire department personnel will have to be reduced. At least every other street light will have to be turned out completely even though more light is needed now. No money for light, heat, janitor or water will be available for Memorial Hall or the public library. Some of the nurses at Berger Hospital will have to work part time without pay or be dismissed. No sewers or additional fire hydrants can be installed. Equipment at the Fire Department and Police Department will go without replacement or repair. Persons without money will be unable to obtain medical or hospital aid. The city Health Department will be curtailed with suffering the only result by those unable to afford a doctor.

IF YOU WANT THESE SERVICES TO BE CONTINUED AND IMPROVED THE TWO MILL LEVY MUST PASS. TALK TO YOUR NEIGHBOR, YOUR GROCER, YOUR FRIENDS. THEN GO WITH THEM TO THE POLLS ON TUESDAY AND

ARMY AVIATORS FOUND IN CAMP ON WEST COAST

Pilots Use Parachutes To Find Safe Havens After Bomber Cracks Up

craft was believed to have struck at the base of Tell's Peak, 25 miles west of Lake Tahoe. It was enroute from Salt Lake City to Sacramento, Cal.

A weather jinx pursuing the 57th Pursuit Squadron took the lives of Lieuts. Arthur Streckman and Thomas L. Traux. Both died instantly when their P-40 ships burst into flames against Bald Hill, across the Golden Gate from San Francisco. Another pilot from the squadron, Lieut. Walter Radovitch, broke his leg when he parachuted after becoming lost. The wreck of his plane has not been located.

Long overdue was a training ship from March Field, in southern California, piloted by Lieut. A. B. Dannel with Lieut. R. D. Leimbacker as passenger, and another trainer flown by Lieut. Robert E. Agnew.

The newest tragedies in its ranks leave the ill-fated 57th Pursuit Squadron with only ten of the 25 ships that started from Windsor Locks, Conn., several weeks ago for a journey to war games held last week in the Pacific northwest.

Ten days ago they were caught in a storm in California and five of the ships crashed. One pilot was killed and another still is missing.

The flying fortress, after being grounded by bad weather Saturday, took off from Reno at 11:05 a. m. Sunday. An hour later it began to break up as it flew through a snow storm at an elevation of 12,000 feet. The two men who first landed safely reported that they had been thrown free. They saw the remnants of the bomber vanish into the clouds below as they parachuted to earth.

Organized Searchers

They were guided to the Georgetown ranger station by a woodcutter, and immediately organized the searching party which set out for a difficult 20-mile hike to the point where it is believed that the bomber crashed.

Army authorities also still were hunting for Lieut. Richard N. Long, of Connellsville, Pa., the pursuit pilot missing since the 57th Pursuit Squadron's first mass mishap occurred ten days ago.

DAYTON, Nov. 3—A board of inquiry from Wright Field today was to probe the crash of a twin-engine Army bomber on the L. L. Clymer farm near Findlay which killed five fliers.

Witnesses said the plane came down with terrific speed at a 45-degree angle, tore up 150 feet of fence as it plowed along the field, and then exploded, scattering its wreckage over more than an acre.

The victims were identified as Lt. T. W. Bafford, Orlando, Fla., pilot; Lt. George W. Smith, Asheville, N. C., co-pilot; Sgt. Lee Chambers, Hinsdale, N. Y., and two civil service employees of Patterson Field, Robert Hareman, of Dayton, and John D. Southard, of Springfield.

The plane had been on a routine flight testing automatic equipment. It was the fourth ship to crash recently after taking off from Patterson Field.

ranee was set on fire. All planes returned safely.

KUBYSHEV—Soviet authorities today looked forward to a period of peace along the frequently embattled outer Mongolian-Manchukuo frontier as a result of the new Russo-Japanese demarcation agreement. Vice Foreign Commissar S. A. Lozovsky said the frontier now is clearly marked along a 160-mile length between Bulnor and Khalkingol.

PARIS—The Paris Zeitung said today that two hostages held by German authorities at Brussels, Belgium, and Nantes, France, have been released because their relatives furnished police "valuable information and clues regarding assassins of German officers."

If you bruise a finger by catching it in a door or drawer, as quickly as possible soak it for five minutes in as hot water as you can stand. Add more hot water as the water cools.

To remove lipstick stains from linens, soak in sweet milk for at least 30 minutes, then wash in hot soap suds. Rinse in clear water as usual.

PAYMENT RATES UNDER AAA CROP PLAN ANNOUNCED

peanuts and the other for carrying out soil building practices.

Soil building allowance rates were announced last July and remain the same except that the 70 cent per acre used as a basis for computing the allowances will apply generally rather than only in certain areas.

The payment rates for 1942, based on normal yield of allotted acreages, together with the 1941 rates follow:

Corn (commercial area), per bushel, 1941, nine cents, 1942, eight cents; cotton, per pound 1.25 and 1.37 C; wheat, per bushel, 10.5 and 8 cents; rice, per 100 pounds, 3 and 5.5c; peanuts, per ton, $1.45 and $2.25; potatoes (commercial) per bushel, 2 and 2.3c; flue cured tobacco, per pound 0.7 and 0.8c; burley tobacco, per pound 0.7 and 0.8 C; fire-cured tobacco, per pound 1.4 and 1.5 C; dark air-cured tobacco, per pound 0.9 and 1.0c.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Department economists forecast that the U. S. fall and winter output of food will be the largest in history, assuring an ample supply for both this country and Great Britain.

Summer harvests, it was pointed out, reached an all-time high, and the number of livestock on farms for the production of meats, milk, eggs and other products is at peak figures.

An even greater production for the "food-for-freedom" campaign is called for in 1942.

NAVY GIVEN 290 MORE BOATS FOR SERVICE AT SEA

President Puts Name On Order Sending Coast Guard Into Action

ed the Navy to clear the seas of German U-boats, which he referred to as "rattlesnakes." It put teeth, too, into Secretary of Navy Knox's declaration Saturday that this country is in the undeclared naval war in the Atlantic to the finish.

Some coast guard cutters already had been assigned to the Navy. One of them was stationed at Lisbon, Portugal, and at least two others were patrolling sea lanes "somewhere near Greenland."

With the transfer of the entire coast guard, any of its ships can now carry out President Roosevelt's shoot-on-sight order, which was given to the Navy some time ago.

Locations Secret

Navy circles said the order probably would allow the Navy to maintain its present strength in the Pacific despite the growing naval warfare in the Atlantic. The Navy at present has approximately 17 battleships, six aircraft carriers, 37 cruisers, 171 destroyers, 113 submarines and some 4,100 planes, but just how many are in the Atlantic or Pacific is the most closely guarded military secret in Washington.

The act setting up the coast guard, which was created in 1915, provides:

"The coast guard shall constitute a part of the military forces of the United States and shall operate under the Treasury Department in time of peace, and operate as a part of the Navy in time of war, or when the President shall so direct."

There were no administrative difficulties encountered in the actual transfer, since the coast guard had been cooperating with the Navy since the neutrality patrol was started in 1939, and apparently had expected the transfer order.

THEFT CHARGED AGAINST MAN PLACED IN JAIL

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 3—William Gifford, 27, who admitted he had held up a Springfield Township woman, bound and gagged her and burglarized her home last Tuesday afternoon, was in Ross County Jail Monday.

Gifford was arrested at the house he occupied on the James Cutright farm shortly after he returned there Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Herbert L. Parry told sheriff's officers how Gifford had stopped at her home Tuesday afternoon, held her up with a .32 calibre rifle, and robbed her of her jewelry.

Sheriff O. A. Maugher said Gifford also admitted entering the home of Mrs. Oma Wallace, where he stole more jewelry. Sheriff's officers made the arrest after they had been informed that Gifford was seen walking east on Main Street bridge about noon Saturday.

that the new German advances left the Soviet Black Sea fleet with the alternative of facing devastating aerial attacks at a Caucasian port—possibly Batum—or splitting up to seek shelter in the numerous small bays along the Caucasian coast.

Officials described the first raid on Novorossiysk as "particularly effective" and predicted many more would follow.

Whether the Soviets can succeed in holding back the Germans outside Sevastopol will be seen in the next few days, authorities said. They declared the current operations in the Crimea had the advantage of military experience gained by the Germans in the World War. Then, they captured Sevastopol on May 1, 1918.

Further, with the lower Donetz River no described as within reach of German guns, officials declared the capture of Kursk implies a quick German push toward the Don River.

On the Moscow front, despite the heavy fighting of the last week, authorities declared, there is now evidence that the Russian counter-attacks are slackening and that many sectors have been abandoned by the Red armies after suffering heavy losses.

Around the Leningrad sector, it was stated, "fierce" Red efforts to gain a solid foothold across the Neva River again were smashed with the Luftwaffe and Panzer units stifling all Russian attempts to rally their forces.

WITH VALLEE

Hattie McDaniel, who won an Oscar for her work in "Gone With the Wind," is an added guest on the Rudy Vallee show for next Thursday along with Joan Davis, film comedienne, and, of course, John Barrymore. The comedy sketch on the program, aired at 10 p. m., will be attuned to the Halloween spirit — spirit being used advisedly since the sketch is set in a haunted house replete with the props and ghostly apparitions to be found in such houses.

WILLIAMSPORT MAN, 26, FACES THEFT CHARGES

Leslie Dunn, 26, Williamsport, was in County Jail Monday where charges of breaking and entering will be filed against him.

Dunn was brought to Pickaway County, Saturday, from Ohio State Reformatory by Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer, the Williamsport man having served out his time there for auto larceny. Dunn is alleged to have broken into a roadside establishment on Route 22 west of Circleville before he was sent to Mansfield from Madison County.

OUR BIG JOB

IT IS hard for Americans to realize, even yet, the size of the job that has to be done if we want a free world. Some notion may be gained from the plans of our defense chiefs at Washington. They are figuring on an expenditure of $100,000,000 in the next two or two and a half years. The material items include 25,000 long-range bombers, 125,000 war planes and ordinary bombers, and tens of thousands of tanks.

This immense outlay is not just to lick Hitler. It is to beat the biggest criminal conspiracy ever undertaken in human history, a conspiracy to grab, enslave and exploit the whole world and all the people in it. Until lately any such notion as this would have been considered ridiculous or crazy. But in view of the progress already made in world conquest, and the growing boldness of the conquerors and clearness of their aims, it is no longer a laughing matter. If the nervous little man with the funny mustache defeats the Russians, he will have half the world already in his hands.

NAZIISM BEYOND GERMANY

FORMER Premier Hertzog of the Union of South Africa made a revealing statement at the recent congress of the Afrikaner Party at Cape Town. First he declared his own support of Naziism. Then he explained that Naziism "is not the exclusive product of any particular country or people." In his country, he says, it is "an Afrikaan national tradition and custom as old as the Afrikaan people."

"Afrikaan" or "Afrikaander" is simply the Dutch form of "African." It refers not to native blacks but to white persons born in South Africa, especially the Boers.

The striking part of Mr. Hertzog's speech was his description of Naziism as having no local or racial limitation. The world has known for some time now that there were people in all the conquered lands who were willing to play the dictator's game for their own advancement. They have usually been regarded at home and abroad as traitors. Mrs. Hertzog puts the thing in a light new to many Americans. He supports Naziism not as a German product but as a South African theory of government.

This is one reason why defeating Hitler will not alone be enough to save the democracies. Freedom-loving people everywhere must prove their own govern-

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

FRANKLIN JR., INSPIRED BLOW

WASHINGTON — There was an inside reason why Roosevelt spoke with particular vigor when, in his Navy Day speech, he declared: "Our nation will and must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine—in our vast machine."

That reason, he told the Arkansas congressional delegation next morning, was the fact that his son, Franklin, had telephoned him from Iceland just before he made his speech.

"Franklin told me that the boys on his ship were very much concerned about the coal strike called by John L. Lewis," the President informed the Arkansas congressmen.

"He said: 'Pop, there's not a man on my ship who isn't 100 percent behind you in opening up the coal mines. They all want you to go after John L. Lewis because they're ready to give their lives for their country, if necessary, and they believe that the folks back home should do their part by keeping defense production going at top speed. And that goes for me, too, Pop.'"

The President's voice showed that he had been moved by his son's phone call; and Representative E. C. ("Took") Gathings, also deeply moved, replied: "You tell young Franklin and those other fine young Americans with him that Congress won't let them down. And we won't permit Lewis or anyone else to let them down, Mr. President."

"Thanks, Took," the President replied, "Lewis's position is indefensible. He can make all the high-flown speeches he wants to about Wall Street, but he can't deny that he, John L. Lewis, is obstructing the defense program by closing those mines."

"Unfortunately, there isn't much that I, as President, can do about it if Lewis refuses to cooperate. There was no difficulty in taking over the strike-closed Kearny shipyard and in sending the Army to keep order in that West Coast airplane plant."

"In both cases the majority of the employees wanted to work. But Lewis wields such control over union miners that the only way we can deal effectively with this coal strike, and prevent similar strikes in the future, is through legislation."

CAPITAL CHAFF

Ex-Democratic National Secretary Chip Robert flew to Washington from Florida last week with a patch over one eye and a small printed card which he handed to friends. "I was helping an old crippled lady off the airplane at Jacksonville," the card read, "when her crutch slipped and hit me in the eye. If you don't believe this, ask Evie; she doesn't either." Evie is Mrs. Robert. . . . Justice Department officials are bemoaning the coming retirement of Judge Charles Cavanaugh of Idaho, close friend of the late Senator Borah, and one

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By— Charles P. Stewart

ASSISTANT STATE SECRETARY BRECKINRIDGE LONG'S recent surmise, in a broadcast in this country but evidently picked up in Europe also, that Herr Hitler is maneuvering preliminarily, with a view to taking all-out possession of Italy presently, appears to have scored more of a bull's-eye than Breck, maybe, expected. Anyhow, cabled quotations from Italian newspapers indicate that the Fascist press is literally wild with indignation at the suggestion.

Editor Virginia Gayda of the Giornale d'Italia is the keynoter, but all his fellow scribes throughout Signor Mussolini's realm are joining in the chorus of vituperation.

Secretary Long's guess was that Adolf the Fuehrer is borrowing Duce "Benito's military manpower away from him wholesale, not so much because he needs help in Russia as to drain Benito's country of its soldiery to an extent that'll make it powerless to resist invasion by the Nazi forces.

Spokesman Gayda and the rest of the editorialists take the position that State Secretary Hull's assistant deliberately and maliciously wove this yarn out of whole cloth for the purpose of making the Italian masses suspicious of their German partners to the point of forcing the Rome government to cut loose from the Axis.

Whether or not this diagnosis is correct, Breck isn't telling; his obvious cue is to stand pat for the accuracy of his prediction. If he did make up his story out of his own head, though, the indications are that it's accomplishing just the result the Italian editors say he invented it to accomplish—that is, that the Italian people generally believe it and are getting plenty wobbly in their Axis alignment.

VIOLENCE SUGGESTIVE

The editors, to be sure, don't manifest any wobblyness. Contrarywise, they deny emphatically that Adolf is borrowing from Benito appreciably and vociferously proclaim the Fascists' loyalty to the Nazis. The very violence with which they're doing it, however, hints at a realization, on their part, of the existence of a lot of public sentiment to be counteracted.

In a free country the press, of course, largely reflects what the nation's inhabitants are thinking and saying, but in totalitarian lands, as everyone's aware, the newspapers print what they're told to print and don't print what they're warned not to.

Radio broadcasts, from outside, naturally are more difficult for a dictatorial government to control. They can and do prohibit listening in on such stuff as Breck Long got off. Doing so is pretty generally capital punishment. Nevertheless, it's evident that a good bit of it's done, or the Italian papers would not have to be making such a hullabaloo in contradiction of Breck's talk.

Since he turned on Partner Joe without a minute's notice, why isn't he liable to turn on Partner Benito just as abruptly? That probably is what a good many Italians asked themselves when Breck furnished 'em with the idea. It's a question that it might be desirable for the editorial bunch to answer, if they could do it satisfactorily. How CAN they do it satisfactorily, though, considering that Adolf certainly DID turn on Josef?

The present rears outburst from Rome, Milan and thereabouts isn't, indeed, the first intimation that Washington's had of considerable discontent on Benito's peninsula.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE—

News from there is both skimpy and unreliable but, for quite awhile, rumors have been current of an undercurrent of popular, though very rigidly hushed-up growling. Apparently the Fuehrer has sensed some of it, for it's said his secret agents are busy as bird dogs from the Alps to the Mediterranean.

One account was that Hitler didn't think Benito was keeping the situation in hand at all competently and suggested having his GESTAPO take entire charge of the policing of the country, but that Benito objected, on the ground that it would make him ridiculous. The GESTAPO proposition having been turned down, Breck Long's bet is that now Adolf's fixing for an all-out invasion and the grabbing of everything. He surely stirred up the journalistic animals.

DIET AND HEALTH

Keep Weight Normal by "Maintenance Diet"

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● We present this week one diet list every day of a scientifically worked-out reducing diet. Anyone who has missed the diets printed daily during the last six weeks

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

can begin now and then go back to the others. (Copies of a pamphlet on "A Three-Weeks Reducing Diet" will be mailed on request, enclosing ten cents.)

The final week's diets are a little lower in caloric value than the former ones, because we want you to lose as much as possible while you are on a strict schedule. As I have said before, the benefits of dieting come not so much gradually or continuously, but in jumps, usually at the end of ten days or three-week periods.

To repeat once more, you are not supposed to go on a spree after this diet period is over, and eat anything you want. If you are overweight and have a "tendency" to fat, it is ten to one that the "tendency" is due to eating too much. So plan your future eating habits on the basis of a "maintenance diet," avoiding the excessive use of the fattening foods which are sugar, candy, bread, cereal, macaroni, spaghetti, pastry, pies, cakes, potatoes, beans, corn, butter, gravies, salad oils, cream soups and meats high in fats—such as pork, lamb chops and bacon.

Cut Down Fats

You need not cut these out altogether, but go easy on them. One slice of bread with a light coating of butter is enough at any meal for anybody. And a garnishing of gravy rather than a drowning is enough. The same applies to salad dressings and cream sauces. Of course, it is the fats that give most taste to foods, and the temptation is very great, but remember Jack Sprat is always represented in the pictures as being thin, and that is a sound physiologic deduction.

THIRD THREE-WEEK DIET PERIOD FALL REDUCING DIET—MONDAY

Breakfast:
1 glass pineapple juice.
1 slice toast—no butter.
Coffee—no cream or sugar.

Lunch:
Shrimp, crab or lobster salad with lettuce. Lemon, vinegar and chili sauce dressing.
1 piece toasted rye bread.
Sliced oranges.
Black coffee or tea with lemon.

Dinner:
1 cup clear soup.
Average helping broiled kidneys.
Generous helping braised celery.
1/2 stewed apricot.
Black coffee.

Factographs

Amethysts were supposed to keep the wearers from intoxication. The name is from the Greek, meaning "without drunkenness."

Jade, although identified with Chinese culture, is not really a Chinese product. Practically all came from Burma.

Grandpappy Jenkins' Halloween costume won first prize as the scariest of all. He was dressed

The worst habit the overweight gets into is not to quit eating when he's satisfied. Overweights kid themselves about this; they say they really do not eat as much as the normal weights. But they forget the second helpings, or the little clean-up maneuver with the extra piece of bread. Mrs. Sprat was undoubtedly the one who licked the platter clean. Don't push your appetite.

Can Reduce Safely

You will hear a great deal about the dangers of dieting, but this doctrine is largely used by overweights to give themselves comfort for not dieting. Certainly people who are normal weight or underweight should not diet "to preserve their figures." But the people you hear about who ran into a decline from dieting usually had a basis of tuberculosis to begin with.

Dr. James J. Short of New York, who recently reported the reduction of a patient from 479 to 175 pounds, nailed this fallacy by saying—"there is no limitation to the amount of excess weight that can be removed with safety." If a reducing diet furnishes the proper balance of vitamins, minerals and proteins, and the patient really needs it, it is safe.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. A. B.: "What are the uses of charcoal tablets? What effect do they have on the blood and system?"

Answer: Charcoal belongs to the group of drugs called adsorbents, fine powders that can't be dissolved; they attach other materials to their surface. Charcoal is largely adsorbent for gases, so can be used in gaseous stomach and intestinal conditions. It has no effect on the blood.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Dieting and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

A Ride in a Paper Boat

By MARIE BLIZARD
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

THERE WAS a baby specialist from Boston. Win had sent for him. There was a trained nurse. There were Win and Minerva moving silently, anxiously about the house. The telephone bell was muffled; footsteps on tip-toes echoed loudly through the halls of the house where a tiny flame of life flickered in desperate struggle for survival.

In the bedroom that seemed so disproportionately huge to house the little crib where Letitia lay, Hallie sat hour after hour, with her heart in her eyes and a desperate prayer in her heart.

Sometimes she dozed from sheer fatigue and the nurse led her, half asleep to a couch, and covered her with a blanket. Minerva called upon all her skill to prepare the trays that Hallie sent away scarcely tasted.

The baby had pneumonia. The terrible disease was an implacable enemy, advancing step by step, and there were no warriors to resist in the little body that had never been strong. Medical skill, prayer, and love fought the enemy with all its meager powers, but its shadows were crushingly near.

Winthrop Adams' heart ached with the wish to comfort Hallie, but she lived now within the shell of her terrible expectancy and it was beyond human power to reach and comfort her.

The frustrated wish gave rise to anger. Win would have gladly thrashed Eric into the mold of what he should have been.

If Win had dared, he would have brought Hallie's tired head to rest against his comforting shoulder. But that was Eric's place, and Eric was flying to Honduras. And Win blamed himself for that. He had somehow failed.

And then Eric came back, arriving calmly in the middle of the night, saying, "Is the baby okay?" "You young fool!" he said. "Hallie's been through hell while you've been on a holiday. Your child is dying. It's got one chance in a million of pulling through. You'd better get a pretty good story ready for Hallie."

"Same old Win, aren't you? Minding my business. I'll know what to tell Hallie."

But when Eric saw her, saw the waxen form of the baby, he could only touch Hallie's hand and say, "Honest, honey, I didn't know it was this bad."

Hallie looked at him with no interest and she said nothing. Her tortured glance went back to the baby.

"I'll tell you all about it when the baby gets well."

Hallie didn't say anything for a long time and then, tonelessly, she said, "The baby isn't going to get well. If I could only breathe life into her again . . ." Her voice broke.

Win turned away blindly from the door.

Eric ran his fingers through his hair. "I'm going outside for a smoke," he mumbled.

No one stopped him. Minerva spoke not one word to him.

It was 4 o'clock that morning when the flame flickered out. The baby gave a tiny sigh and the light was extinguished forever.

Hallie knew. It was as if her own heart gave that gentle sigh and then died.

Eric and Win stood beside her. Eric put his hands over his face and his shoulders moved with a deep sob.

But Win lifted the stricken mother and said gently, "Come, Hallie. I'm going to give you something to make you sleep."

Hallie didn't cry. She lay in the big bed and looked at the ceiling, all life drained out of her. Days and nights, sunshine and storms, they came and passed and she seemed not to know it.

The funeral was over and Eric had to get back to his new job.

"Hallie, you just take it easy for a few days. You'd better stay here. I've got to get back. I'm flying out to Arizona, but I'll be back in ten days. I'll come and get you."

Hallie said, "I'm not going back."

"Good! It's much better for you to stay here until you feel like facing things."

"There isn't anything to face," she said in the strange toneless way in which she had spoken since the baby died.

"Of course there isn't. You stay around here with Minerva to look after you. It's pretty hot in New York anyway."

Hallie looked at him with mild surprise. Eric didn't understand, but she couldn't make the effort so that he would.

It was Win who knew that it was wrong for Hallie to stay on in East Lynbrook. Some instinct told him that it was wrong for her to stay where every blade of grass, every falling tree shadow would remind her of the days she had spent there with the baby.

Hallie had to go away. Win would have taken her to the mountains, to the seashore, if he had dared suggest it. But that was Eric's place and Eric would never know what his place was.

Win talked to Louise Fennell on the long distance telephone.

"I'll help. I'll do anything I can, Win," Louise said. "I'd love to have Hallie come to our cottage, but my happiness and my son would only remind her too poignantly of her own misery. But wait, I have an idea. I'll talk to Sue Amberson."

And so three days later Sue pulled up outside the Adams' house in her station wagon.

She said, "I'll take no protests, Hallie. I've found the most beautiful shack in the world for painting. It's on the rockbound coast of Maine, and I mean rockbound; I can't paint and cook at the same time, and I'm going crazy for the want of someone to talk to."

"I wouldn't be much use," Hallie protested feebly.

"That's what you think. Come along and see."

Sue's place was a shack, but it had a big stone hearth and mattresses of pine boughs. It had woods in back of it and the cold, sparkling waters of the bay in front. There was nothing to see and nothing to do that reminded Hallie of what had just been—except the awful hollow in her heart.

Sue said they acted "like a couple of Boy Scouts." But the fishing in streams and bay, the meals cooked outdoors, the long hikes, the fragrant sleep-drenched nights, brought life back to Hallie. The pinched look went away from her nostrils. The hollows in her cheeks filled out. Her limbs hardened from exercise and she found that anticipation still ran through her veins.

She cooked and washed the dishes, made up their bunks, read to Sue while Sue painted, played intelligence games with Sue at night and wished that their life like that might go on forever.

Sue said, "I've always avoided holidays with dames. Women just don't wear well on each other's nerves. But you're tops, Hallie. This has been swell."

Hallie licked apple pie from her fingertips. She said, "Sue, I've been thinking. You're not going back to your old studio this year, are you?"

Sue said, "No. I'm not getting tired of living with my work. I thought I'd take an apartment and hire a studio outside somewhere. Why?"

Hallie said, "There are two bedrooms in my house in Stuyvesant square."

"I know that, but you're not taking in roomers."

"No. I just thought that you and I might carry on this arrangement."

"But Eric . . ."

"I am not going to live with Eric any more. That's done, Sue."

Words of Wisdom

How little do they see what is, who frame their hasty judgments upon that which seems. —Southey.

Today's Horoscope

Average fortunes may be expected throughout the next year by those who have birthdays today. Beneficial travel and success in literary and artistic affairs are prognosticated; also some love or domestic annoyance and extravagance. Strong, ardent emotions will be possessed by the child who is born on this date. These may lead such a person astray. Caution and restraint in love affairs will be advisable, then the fortunes will be good.

Passing of Two Mill Levy Adds Only $10 A Year to Tax Assessed Against $5,000 Property in City

Some Circleville renters have voiced fear of increased rents in the event that the two mill levy for the City is passed at the election next Tuesday. This is a misapprehension, for rent increases will not be justified by this proposed tax increase.

The increased cost to the owner of a $1,000 property, for instance, would be only $2 a year. The $2,000 property owner would pay $4 a year, and so on at the rate of $2 for each additional thousand dollars for which the property is listed on the tax duplicate.

Do not be fooled by any claim that the two mill city levy would force higher rents for the city.

About This And That In Many Sports

With the end of the football season just a little over a week away, Coach Roy Black's Tigers are hard at work for their invasion of Grove City Friday night when Pete Trego's Greyhounds will provide the opposition. . . . The season closes Tuesday, November 11, Armistice Day, when speedy Paul Kappes and his Holy Rosary boys from Columbus invade the local ballfield. . . . Some of the Tiger squadmen saw Grove City play a scoreless Saturday night with Groveport. . . . The Greyhounds are tall, they have weight in numerous positions and speed in others, and they have a hard-hitting halfback in the person of Fred Russell, Negro, who does the punting and the passing in addition to backing up the line and doing most of the ball carrying. . . . Russell rates high in Franklin County scoring circles this year, and will be a threat against the Tigers every time he totes the leather. . . .

With exception of a few bruises, the Red and Black lads came out of their Washington C. H. fiasco without injury. . . . Johnny Woods cut his hand on a piece of glass, but a bandage will take care of that. . . .

It seems that Washington C. H. backed into a tie with Greenfield McClain for the league title. . . . McClain won two and was tied twice, making it one point each for the victories and one-half point each for the ties. . . . The Blue Lions won three and lost one, getting a point for each of the victories and a deadlock with Greenfield. . . . But in this book Greenfield is tops, its 14-0 defeat of Washington C. H. being the convincer. . . .

Even Mr. Waldorf Claims Grid Officials In Error

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 3.—For the first time in his seven years as head football coach at Northwestern, Lynn Waldorf today complained about a defeat—that 8 to 7 affair which Minnesota won from the Wildcats Saturday at Minneapolis.

Waldorf's complaint was in connection with Minnesota's touchdown, which he asserted was illegal and should not have been allowed.

The Gopher touchdown came in the third period, with Northwestern ahead by 7 to 2. Minnesota had the ball on Northwestern's 41-yard stripe, and after a reverse play had been stopped for no gain, the Gophers returned to the line of scrimmage and, without their customary huddle, lined up quickly. The ball was snapped before the Wildcats knew what was cooking, and Halfback Bud Higgins tore down the sidelines to pay dirt.

This play, said Waldorf, was illegal. He explained:

"Both my observers in the press box tell me that Minnesota was not lined up legally. The rules require seven men to be on the line of scrimmage, and the manner in which it was run off makes it almost impossible that the rules had been lived up to on this play. Unfortunately, I was not in a

TWO STRONG PRO TEAMS THUMPED IN BIG UPSETS

By International News Service
Chaos reigned today in the National Professional Football League and the burden of battle rested heavily on the once proud Chicago Bears and New York Giants. The Bears and Giants were toppled from the peacemaker's posts in the Western and Eastern Divisions, respectively, by startling upsets yesterday that tossed the pennant pursuit into a tailspin.

The Giants bowed out to the Chicago Cardinals, a team that had won only a single game and had the citizenry wondering whether it would ever win another. It was taken for granted, of course, that the Giants would overwhelm the Cardinals up until the jaunt Chicagoans staged the No. 1 surprise of the league campaign and bested New York, 10 to 7.

Being a mighty team by general consensus, the Green Bay Packers thumped the Bears, 16 to 14. Defeat of the defending champions was less humiliating, perhaps, than the Giants' loss, but certainly no more costly.

Green Bay replaced Chicago as leaders of the Western Division by virtue of the victory, and the Washington Redskins, who trounced Pittsburgh, climbed ahead of the Giants in the eastern branch when New York lost to the Chicago Cards.

The Bears today had the chance to pull themselves back to the top next week in a game against hapless Cleveland while the Packers are idling. In the Eastern Division, however, the fight for a play-off position appeared destined to surge onward, at least until November 23, when the Redskins and Giants collide head-on.

BULLIES SURE OF TITLE SHARE IN PRO LEAGUE

By International News Service
The Columbus Bulls today were assured of nothing worse than a deadlock for season honors in the American Professional Football League.

The Bulls overwhelmed Buffalo, 24 to 7, while the usually placid Milwaukee Chiefs virtually knocked the New York Americans, only other serious title contender, out of the race.

Bob Davis' 62-yard touchdown run and his pass to Glenn Olsen, good for 42 yards and another of the Bulls' crossings, sparked the Columbus triumph.

Milwaukee's weird aerial bombardment netted their lone touchdown and Bob Eckl converted the extra point that toppled New York, 7 to 6. A passing attack launched from their own 12 in the third period ended over the Amerks' goal line when John Maltch flipped to Mack Berry for the touchdown. New York's scores came in the first and final periods on field goals by Phil Martinovitch.

Most serious problem confronting Coach Brown and his aides Monday was that of replacing Lin Houston, sterling sophomore guard who suffered an injured knee in the Panther fuss and will be out of action for at least two weeks and perhaps for the season.

TEXAS, GOPHERS LOOM AS BEST GRID MACHINES

Longhorns Run Over SMU; Minnesota Bests Cats; Fordham Goes On

By Jack Mahon

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Gen. Mud and his petty officers, General Rain and Nuisance, were in full charge of national football maneuvers over the week end, but none of them could stop the thundering herd of Texas University Longhorns from stampeding into the No. 1 spot in the race for the collegiate championship of 1941.

Exactly five of the country's major clubs had their perfect records spoiled Saturday but today, as the teams looked forward to the stretch drive in their respective districts, Fordham was tops in the East; Minnesota was the king of the mid west; Duke was No. 1 in the south; Missouri was the leader of the Big Six; Stanford was going strong on the west coast and Texas and Texas A. & M. were still pacing the field in the southwest with the former favored, not only to win its conference, but also to become the outstanding college team in the country.

The Texans, under their fifth season with Dana X. Bible, proved one of the greatest powerhouses in the history of their school by routing Southern Methodist, 34-0.

Army Halts Irish
Because of the steady rain and horrible playing conditions, football meant next to nothing in the east. An under-dog Army team, unbeaten, stole most of the glory out of the gloom by holding a likewise undefeated and highly regarded Notre Dame club to a scoreless tie in New York. Navy, which had been similarly held the previous week by an under-rated Harvard team, bounced back and handed Penn its first defeat, 13 to 6, at Philadelphia while Fordham racing through the gumbo as if they loved it, had no trouble trouncing Purdue, 17-0, not even yielding a single first down to the Boilermakers.

One of the biggest upsets of the day took place in Boston where Boston College recovered some of the form it flashed last season to trounce previously undefeated Temple 31-0 while in the south, slow-starting Tulane finally rolled and blasted Vanderbilt's league leading Commodores from the list of the unbeaten, 34-14.

The Golden Gophers of Minnesota put together a safety and a touchdown to nose out Northwestern, 8 to 7 for their 14th win in a row, over the last two years, and virtually clinched the Big Ten title while Texas A. & M. and Duquesne, the only other major unbeaten clubs in the country, kept their slates clean by defeating Arkansas and Villanova, respectively.

William and Mary upset Dartmouth, in a non-conference game, and kept pace with Duke as leader of the Southern Conference while Mississippi State continued to set the pace in the Southeastern Circuit. Missouri, which likewise had an easy time with non-conference Michigan State, continues to lead the Big Six.

Stanford, its "7" formation clicking for the first time this year on a muddy field, really looked like the team that swept to Rose Bowl glory last November's afternoon in trouncing Santa Clara, 27-7 in the main game of the day on the west coast. The Indians once more are favored to win the Rose Bowl bid.

Pumpkin Show Champion Entered in Major Event

Roy Binion's Hereford To Be Exhibited At Chicago International

Pickaway County's first entry for the 1941 International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show, to be held in Chicago Stock Yards November 29, to December 6, has been made by Theodore Binion of Lockbourne Monday.

The 1,050 pound Hereford steer, entered in the Pumpkin Show by Binion's son, Roy, was judged the Grand Champion steer of the show this year, giving the youth a trip to the International Exposition where he will have an opportunity to see his own steer on exhibit.

C. B. Teegardin and Sons of Ashville also have entered the International Show. Last year Teegardins possessed the grand champion bull of the show.

Other local representatives who will make the trip to Chicago are Lois Defenbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Defenbaugh of Saltcreek Township and Donald Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoover of Ashville. Lois was winner in the An us class at the Pumpkin Show and Donald winner in the Shorthorn class. The three winners are being sent to Chicago by John W. Eshelman and Sons, the Ralston Purina Company and the Circleville Lumber Company.

The forthcoming exposition will celebrate its 42nd annual renewal as the largest agricultural show in the country. Held in conjunction with the exposition in the International Grain and Hay Show, world's largest farm crops show. It will be the 23rd anniversary of this event.

According to the management, entries have thus far been received from prospective exhibitors in 28 states and Canada.

FIVE BOYS GIVE UP HALLOWEEN PRANKING

Five boys from East Ringgold vowed Saturday they were through playing Halloween pranks.

They were Glenn Barr, James Brown, Walter Mettler, Charles Mettler and Paul Hoover. The boys admitted to Deputy Sheriff R. E. Armstrong and Probation Officer Festus Walters after questioning that they had carried off three gates from the farm of Stanley Frazier, Circleville Route 4.

The officers made the boys carry the three gates nearly a mile and put them back from where they were originally taken.

GUARD AT HOME OF F. D. SON IS MERELY ROUTINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The U. S. Secret Service was merely "carrying out customary procedure" in placing a guard about the home of John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, at Coronado, Cal., a high official said today.

Declaring that there was no "unusual situation" calling for special activity, the official said that under law it is the service's duty to guard members of the presidential family.

The spokesman explained that a guard was placed about young Roosevelt's home in Boston and that when he, as a naval ensign, was transferred to the west coast, the guard was established there.

It was pointed out that if there had been any threat of kidnaping, the Federal Bureau of Investigation would have been called. It was stated at the office of Director J. Edgar Hoover, that the FBI has received no call.

SPORTSMEN MAY HAVE VOICE IN FISHING RULES

Advices from Conservation Commissioner Don Waters point out that fishermen of this county may have a direct and effective part in adoption of fishing regulations for next year, through the local Conservation Committee made up of representatives of farmers and sportsmen.

A meeting will be held at the Elks Home Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and the actions adopted locally will be passed on to the district committee and thence to the Conservation Commission by delegates to the annual public hearing to be held in Columbus, Tuesday, December 9.

The questionnaires, which may be had from Conservation Officer C. E. Webb, or from officers of the Conservation Committee, ask fishermen some questions about safety zones for fish, sanctuaries, live bait, frog and turtle regulations, motor boats, open and closed seasons, creel limits, etc. On answers to these questions the Conservation Commission will base regulations adopted for next year, and every interested person is urged to register his convictions.

The state hearing is being held a month earlier this year to give needed time to have fishing regulation leaflets printed prior to the opening of the season next year.

Also during the meeting the Sportsman's Club is expected to discuss plans for the opening of the hunting season on November 15.

There's a long secret story behind the final decision to send U. S. railroad experts to repair the railroad through Iran to the Caucasus—a story which reflects no credit upon the war strategy is being handled.

For a long time it has been planned to send U. S. supplies from Barsa, at the head of the Gulf of Persia, by rail through Iran (Persia) and then to the Russian army defending the vital oil fields of the Caucasus. So when Averell Harriman was in London, he cabled the American Minister in Teheran, capital of Iran, asking for details regarding the rail line.

Harriman got the report with reasonable promptness. But it failed to be very specific about one all-important fact—namely, a gap in the railroad of 170 miles. Before this key line reaches the Caucasus, it stops. Then 170 miles further north it resumes, and winds its way on to the Caucasus.

Reason for the sickly and half-grown condition of the railroad is that the Shah of Iran had located his hunting estates in the opposite direction. So he built one full-fledged line through his estates and never finished the line west to Russia.

The finished line goes to the south shore of the Caspian Sea. But there is no harbor at its terminus, and the sea there is so shallow that no large ships can come in. So this spur is impossible.

Only alternative is to send motor trucks to Iran to bridge 170 miles between rail lines. This is why such a tremendous number of trucks is being shipped to the Gulf of Persia. With Hitler's armies in South Russia encroaching on the Caucasus, supplies have to be rushed at any cost. Furthermore, the British have a large number of troops which can join the Russians—if there is any means of transporting them.

However, transportation by truck will be pitifully slow, and building 170 miles of rail will be even slower. Meanwhile eyebrows have been raised in the War Department as to why the British didn't get busy regarding this rail line when they entered Iran last summer.

After election many candidates for political office are so bound by previous commitments to various small groups that often they are prevented from acting for the public good. Now, as never before, must we be sure that our elected officials are not bound by pre-election promises to individuals or groups that do not represent all the people of the city.

The following candidates pledge to the citizens of the City of Circleville that they have made no promises or commitments of any kind to any individual or group of individuals except that they will, if elected, in every instance be fair and do what appears to be for the best interest of the entire community.

BATTLE FOR MOSCOW IN SERIOUS PHASE

VOTERS OF CITY TO DECIDE TWO TAX QUESTIONS

Municipal, School Levies Being Urged To Assist Depleted Treasuries

MAYOR TO BE CHOSEN

Polls To Open At 6:30 A. M. Tuesday; Judges Given Supplies

With election of a new mayor and two special tax levies the most important features facing them, Circleville voters today were ready to march to the polls starting at 6:30 a. m. Tuesday to cast their ballots.

From all indications the vote in Circleville will be a large one, city and school officials carrying on intense campaigns in an effort to get out the vote. They point to serious financial conditions if their two-mill levies do not pass, declaring that numerous reductions in departments that have already been slashed to the bone will be necessary. A breakdown in city law enforcement, fire protection, street lights and hospital service will come, city officials declare, unless voters give their issue a 65 percent margin.

School executives point to numerous needed improvements to correct conditions that even now are far from favorable so far as welfare of the city's children is concerned.

The school issue needs a 51 percent total of the vote cast. In the municipal race, Ben H. Gordon, Democratic nominee, will oppose A. J. Lyle, chosen by the Republican party as its standard-bearer. Gordon is chairman of council's finance committee. He defeated Mayor W. B. Cady for the nomination. Lyle, who is deputy registrar of motor vehicles for Circleville, gained the nomination without opposition.

Other Contests

Several other races are being made in Circleville. First Ward council being contested between J. D. Mason, Democratic incumbent, and George A. Flisell, Republican; Fourth Ward council being sought by Boyd Horn, Democrat, and O. L. Ferguson, Republican, and city treasurer being asked by John Hinrod, Democratic incumbent, and Charles Kirkpatrick, Republican.

Several of the county villages will have contests for mayor and other positions, while all townships are having elections of various officials.

'Fortress' Breaks Up; Eight Escape Death

He's Hiker

TOMMY Graham, above, a Salisbury, Md., cartoonist, set some sort of hitch-hiking record when he made the trip from Salisbury to the Pacific coast in 13 days without walking a step. Thomas credits his oil can suitcase for the lifts he received. Drivers thinking him a fellow motorist who ran out of gas invariably stopped. When Tommy explained he was a cartoonist seeking a Hollywood animated cartoon career they would give him a lift, anyway. The oil can really contained his wardrobe—three pairs of pants, three shirts, underwear, socks and a tray of toilet articles.

WHEELER WARNS AGAINST A. E. F. AS "SUICIDAL"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—Declaring that it would be "suicide" to send an A.E.F. to Europe in America's present unprepared condition, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont. non-interventionist leader, today rallied forces for a showdown this week in the senate on proposed Neutrality Act revision.

As the Senate entered its seventh day of debate on the administration measure permitting arming of ships and allowing them to enter belligerent ports, Wheeler refused to concede defeat.

Administration leaders, however, predicted a final vote Wednesday or Thursday, with votes to spare. Sen. Connally (D) Texas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that the administration has enough pledged votes to assure passage.

The U. S. Navy, Wheeler said, is certain to be ordered to escort convoys to British ports if the bill passes. This means more ships sunk and more American lives lost, he declared, with a cry for a second A.E.F.

"We haven't got the ships to send an A.E.F. to Europe, we haven't got the guns, and we haven't got the planes," Wheeler said.

YALE STUDENTS CHARGED WITH HURTING POLICEMAN

MINEOLA, N. Y., Nov. 3—Charged with beating up a policeman and breaking his arm, two socially prominent Yale graduates, Newell Phipps Weed Jr., 23, Hartford, Conn., and Ewing Philbin Jr., 21, Nassau, N. Y., were held in the Mineola jail without bail today.

The two youth, now training as naval flying cadets, were arrested four hours after Patrolman Edward Lynch reported to headquarters that he had been assaulted. At the hospital, Lynch, who had severe head injuries, was said to be in a critical condition.

Questioned, Philbin and Phipps said they had been drinking but refused to admit the assault charge.

Two Fliers Dead, Four Lost And Four Planes Are Reported Wrecked

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3—Eight Army airmen from a B-17 bomber which broke apart when bucking a storm over the high Sierras were reported safe today, leaving two Army pilots dead, four missing and four planes wrecked as the result of a heavy storm in northern California.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith telephoned authorities at Placerville, Cal., that he understood six men from the bomber were located at a cattle camp some 26 miles west of Lake Tahoe. One of them, Pvt. Harold Salisbury of Bangor, Me., was injured, according to the report.

Earlier two crew members, Corp. Sterling Isom of Hurricane, Utah, and Pvt. Aldon H. Stookey of Corning, Cal., had parachuted safely and reached the Georgetown ranger station where they joined a party that set out to hunt for other survivors.

Still missing from the crew was the pilot, Lieut. L. M. H. Walker, who stayed with his ship until the other eight men parachuted to safety.

Found by the searching party from Georgetown early today in the Sierra wilds were Lieut. J. R. Mode, co-pilot, Fort Worth, Tex.; Staff Sgt. Eugene M. Clemens, Chamberlain, S. D.; Corp. Walter B. Glanz; Pvt. First Class Harold Salisbury, Bangor, Me.; Pvt. First Class Fred E. Pekuri, Portland, Ore.; Pvt. Robert V. Mosley, Columbus, Neb.

Mosley, Pekuri and Stookey were taken to the Placerville hospital for treatment. Mosley was the most severely injured of the trio, with a possible skull fracture.

One Engine Found
The searching party was unable to find any of the bomber's wreckage, except one engine that had been torn off the plane while it still was high in the air. The (Continued on Page Four)

IL DUCE HURLS NEW THREAT AT FRENCH PEOPLE

ROME, Nov. 3—Addressing the Garibaldi Legion at Mons Janiculum just outside Rome, Premier Mussolini addressed a new infernal threat to conquered France today.

Referring to the fight for Italian unification in the 19th century, Il Duce declared:

"French Republican rifles in 1849 and French Imperial rifles in 1867 achieved 'marvelous' results on the defenseless breasts of the Garibaldians.

"No one must draw arbitrary conclusions from our long and sometimes necessary silence."

The occasion for the address was the transfer of the remains of Goffredo Mameli, Italian national hero who was killed by the French.

ARKANSAS RIVER MENACING MANY TOWNS ON BANKS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 3—As thousands of lowland refugees from Arkansas and Oklahoma taxed state and federal relief agencies, the swollen Arkansas River brought new flood dangers to towns along its banks today as it rose to the highest level in many years.

A high water mark for recent decades was set at Fort Smith, Ark., last night when the river rose to above 37 feet and flooded between 50 and 100 blocks of the city.

The crest then moved downstream, carrying its threat to Dardanelle and Morrilton, where flood workers kept anxious eyes on heavily burdened levees.

Crop damage in the Oklahoma-Arkansas flood areas was estimated as high as $10,000,000.

(Eight deaths were counted in Oklahoma over the week end from widespread inundations resulting from weeks of exceptionally heavy rains. Floods also were forecast in Iowa, where the Des Moines and Raccoon Rivers were beginning to spill over their banks in many places.)

NAVY GIVEN 290 MORE BOATS FOR SERVICE AT SEA

President Puts Name On Order Sending Coast Guard Into Action

ANSWER TO SUB'S ACT

Many Long-Range Airplanes To Be Available For Scouting Duty

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—Transfer of the entire U. S. Coast Guard to the Navy under an executive order signed by President Roosevelt today gave the Navy 290 more ships, mostly cutters, to patrol the Atlantic in the chief executive's announced determination to clear the seas of Nazi "rattlesnakes."

The transfer is regarded in Washington as the United States' answer to the torpedoing and sinking of the U. S. S. Reuben James, a destroyer, last week, and previous U-boat attacks on the destroyers Kearny and Greer.

Besides giving the Navy more auxiliary craft, the order also transferred the coast guard's 60 airplanes to the fleet. Most of them are long-range patrol ships that can be converted into bombers. The coast guard's 21,700 officers and men automatically became a part of the Navy.

To Be Useful as Patrols

Most of the coast guard ships, it is believed, will be used in ocean patrol duty. The coast guard has some 270 reserve vessels, mostly yachts and small boats, at its call, and the latter vessels are expected to be mustered into the Navy as quickly as possible for shore patrol work, leaving the regular coast guard vessels free to range far into the Atlantic.

The transfer implemented President Roosevelt's speech last Monday night in which he said "damn the torpedoes," and pledged (Continued on Page Four)

LONDON—The Air Ministry announced today that large formations of R. A. F. bombers pounded the great Italian port of Naples and the Sicilian seaport of Palermo for more than six hours Friday night. On Destroyer

LIEUT. Comm. Heywood L. Edwards was in command of the U. S. destroyer Reuben James when the warship was torpedoed and sunk in the North Atlantic. The ship was engaged in convoy duty, according to the Navy Department.

FATE OF 76 ON 'REUBEN JAMES' STILL IN DOUBT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—For the third consecutive day, the Navy Department said that it had "no word" as to the fate of the 76 American seamen missing from the destroyer Reuben James which was torpedoed and sunk west of Iceland.

While no further reports have been received since Friday night when word was flashed that 44 of the destroyer's crew of 120 had been rescued, Navy officials still held forth the possibility that more of the missing men may have been saved from the icy Atlantic and are being taken safely to port.

The convoy which the James was escorting is under a radio "blackout" and the Navy said it was unlikely that further word would be sent until the ships have reached port.

Meanwhile Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, was asked by delegates at a two-day convention of the America First Committee to start an investigation in the incident.

The request, contained in a letter from Amos R. E. Pinchot, New York attorney, was unanimously endorsed by the 227 chapter chairmen and delegates present.

Great Britain is understood to have agreed to relax the blockade to permit one of the French ships now tied up in American waters to carry the Red Cross shipment of concentrated milk and other food supplies to France.

The American government has decided to resume limited shipment of American Red Cross food supplies to France in response to urgent pleas from French Ambassador Gaston Henry-Haye.

REICH ORDERS FRESH TROOPS INTO ASSAULT

Kronstadt Guns Heard; Germans Sweeping Through Crimea; First Blows Struck At Caucasus; Sevastopol Menaced

BERLIN, Nov. 3—Fall of Rostov-on-Don, gateway to the Caucasus, is imminent, German military spokesmen declared today. Rostov-on-Don, terminus of the vital pipeline through which oil runs from the rich Caucasian fields to the Soviet Army, has been under direct attack for more than a week by German troops sweeping through the southern Ukraine around the shores of the Sea of Azov.

KUIBYSHEV, U.S.S.R., Nov. 3—The bloody battle for Moscow hit a new peak of fury today as the Germans suddenly threw fresh reserves on tanks, guns and men into the gigantic conflict.

A Moscow radio broadcast, reporting that Nazi reinforcements were being hurled into action, stated:

"The battle for the capital has entered its most serious phase."

Earlier a Soviet broadcast said the German assault on Moscow had been "halted at all points." But Russian authorities admitted the situation in the Crimean Peninsula was growing critical.

Russia claimed the Germans have lost at least 4,000,000 men since the conflict began 19 weeks ago.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 3—Heavy gunfire at the Soviet naval base of Kronstadt in the Gulf of Finland was reported in dispatches to Stockholm today.

A Helsinki dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen, reporting the cannonading, said it was believed the Soviet Baltic fleet is "shooting its way out to the west before the Hango Peninsula falls."

Other reports from Helsinki said Finnish and German troops are 14 miles from Murmansk, an important northern Russian seaport, and are preparing to launch an offensive on the Kola Peninsula.

BERLIN, Nov. 3—While German armies swept across the Crimea, German authorities declared the Nazi Luftwaffe struck its first blows today at the rich oil-producing Soviet Caucasus.

Reaping the fruits of the Crimean advance, officials said, German bombers roared across the Black Sea and heavily bombed Novorossisk at the foot of the Caucasian mountains.

As the Luftwaffe once more struck deep into Russian territory from bases close behind the advancing armies, the high command announced smashing blows at Sevastopol and Kerch in the Crimea and capture of the important industrial and railway town of Kursk, 300 miles south of Moscow.

German authorities said Novorossisk was the "last remaining Soviet Black Sea naval port," and declared the latest Luftwaffe raid had "sounded" the death-knell for the remains of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

Sevastopol Under Fire
The great Soviet Crimean naval base of Sevastopol, already heavily bombed, was declared already under fire from approaching German land armies and Kerch likewise was reported under artillery fire. Kerch is situated on the Crimean shore of the Sea of Azov, within easy aerial striking distance of important centers in the Caucasus.

Berlin military authorities said (Continued on Page Four)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT TWO-MILL LEVY

Editor's Note: Additional questions and answers on the two-mill levy for city operating expenses follow:

QUESTION: On the two previous occasions council asked for a new tax levy for the City of Circleville the people were told that unless the levy was passed the street lights would be reduced in candlepower or discontinued entirely. Why were not all the lights turned off?

ANSWER: Council did reduce the strength of all street lights, thereby reducing the yearly cost by nearly $3000. However, you must remember that this City is spread over a large territory, it covers several miles. Many citizens with large families live in all parts of the city. Some families number all the way from 6 to 12 persons. Many do not have automobiles. They are obliged to walk to meetings, church gatherings, visit the sick, and have a hundred other reasons why they must go out on our streets at night, even if it is in the early part of the night, say from 6 to 10 p. m. If you have only one child who must go on an errand after dark, afoot, would you not prefer to have some lights (as now) than for your children to travel our streets when it is cloudy and pitch dark and no lights at all. Not all our citizens can own automobiles but must walk. Children must run errands for a sick mother, etc. Even if you have six children, you do not want to lose one of them, but always wait patiently for their return. Many accidents happen when we have plenty of lights you know what can and will happen when the entire city is in darkness the year around.

The time has arrived when action must be taken either by the voters or by council.

If you, the voters want your streets lighted you must vote for the two-mill levy for the CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, tomorrow.

If this levy is not passed tomorrow, council must do what its members have been so bitterly fighting against. TURN OFF ALL STREET LIGHTS.

NEW SYSTEM OF LOANS DISCLOSED BY LOCAL FIRM

At a meeting in Lima, Saturday, of 220 managers and executive heads of The City Loan, a state-wide lending organization, a new loan policy was announced. C. G. Chalfin, manager of The City Loan branch office in Circleville, attended the meeting together with his assistant, T. S. Lindsey.

Effective November 1, a new type of loan is being made available. It is said to be the first loan of its kind ever offered by any financial institution in the country. It is called a "Self-Defense" loan which aptly describes its purpose. This new "Self-Defense" loan is a personal loan made in any amount from $100 to $1000, the proceeds of which are wholly or partially used for any of the following accepted "Self-Defense" purposes: 1. Buying needed merchandise and supplies. 2. Paying bills and obligations (except to lenders). 3. Making repairs and betterments. 4. For educational purposes. 5. Medical, dental and hospital services; Or for any other approved purpose.

The main feature and benefit to the customer is that the "Self-Defense" portion of every loan made by The City Loan is interest free for the first three months after date. The money, of course, must be used for an approved "Self-Defense" purpose in order to gain the free-interest advantage.

The company's policy is defining the wide range of purposes for which "Self-Defense" loans may be used is in keeping with the loan-purpose requirements recently included in the new federal credit regulations. According to Mr. Chalfin, any loan that is used for a worthy and beneficial purpose which does not over-burden the borrower and wherein the money is used to fill a definite need, may be classified as a "Self-Defense" loan.

VOICE...of the...PEOPLE

Editor of Circleville Herald

I wonder if the people who will vote Tuesday, November 4, really know for what purpose Circleville public schools are asking for additional two-mill levy.

We want this money because:

1. The state has demanded we increase toilet facilities in our schools in Circleville. This would cost not less than $3000.

2. The furnace at High Street School was installed 48 years ago. I am sure anyone will grant that its safety and utility are doubtful. That means at least $3000.

3. Almost for 50 years, Franklin Street School has not had ample school play ground facilities, and they have deteriorated into such a condition that they have become a menace to the neighbors and a danger to the school children. This alone will cost $4000.

4. The retaining wall that holds in the school grounds at Walnut Street School is in such a condition that the neighbors complain that it is not safe to walk along side walk. They are right. It needs repair. New installation would cost $3500.

5. The roof on Corvyn Street Building is in such poor condition that water by bucket-fuls in severe rain practically close classes in the rooms affected by it. This certainly is not an asset and not to be proud of. This would cost us close to $900.

6. In this period of national and local emergencies, prices have gone up. School supplies have increased 33 1/3%, which means that it will cost much more to operate in the coming school year.

You will note these estimated improvements are not additions, but simply trying to put properties in better condition. These improvements will total $14,400.

The income from the Two-Mill Levy will be at most $17,800. You will note that this will leave only $3,400 difference after we make the improvements. Please note also that the above six instances take no consideration whatever to increase in teachers' salaries. The Circleville City Schools are asking nothing but what is necessary. The confidence the public has had in our school system in granting past requests for levies is certainly evidence of the confidence they have in us.

Goodness knows that the cost per pupil to train them in Circleville City Schools is low enough when you realize that no school system in Pickaway County has such low cost. The records show that the cost per pupil for education per year is as follows:

Circleville	$54.99
Pickaway County	$94.63
Ohio Cities	$92.67
State of Ohio	$87.68

Yet we still remain a class A school, and how we do it, we don't know or why. It is a miracle, it is a mystery. It is just good luck. For instance, out of nine cities comparative to City of Circleville, our state of Ohio neighbors, in fact, we have the lowest school tax rate of them all. Here they are by comparison. They speak for themselves.

Circleville	$ 6.45
Chillicothe	7.80
Delaware	8.45
Greenfield	10.70
Hillsboro	9.10
Lancaster	9.10
Logan	6.80
Washington C. H.	8.55
Wilmington	7.40

From the foregoing, you have a right to be proud of the result we have obtained at so little cost. As members of your Board of Education, I for one am ashamed. We can not always be so lucky. We can not without additional finances hope to hold our standard. We can not without the money from Two-Mill Levy hope to see our pupils comfortable, our school properties in fairly decent shape or economical to operate. I offer no further apologies, I make no further appeal, but as the outgoing president and member, after 12 years of service, I ask you as a citizen of Circleville and neighbor of mine and one who appreciates the value of an education, that you do not hesitate to vote YES Tuesday, November 4 in favor of the Two-Mill Levy.

Lawrence E. Goeller

Editor, Circleville Herald

Dear Sir:

Because of the importance to all Circleville women of the Circleville tax levy to be presented to the voters Tuesday, November 4, we feel that the following report, prepared for and presented to the Monday Club, will be of interest to your readers.

The Monday Club selected a committee of three to meet with the City Council Publicity Committee, to render them any assistance possible and to present to the Club facts drawn from attendance at the Council meetings.

The following represent our reasons for support of the tax levy of two mills for two years:

I.—During the last decade, receipts to the General Tax fund have steadily decreased until now the Fund receives $20,000 less each year than in 1931. This decrease in revenue has been due to two factors: first, the tax rate for the General Fund has been lowered from 4.55 mills in 1931 to 3.60 mills in 1940-41; second, the reappraisal of real estate made during the depression removed $1,500,000 from the tax duplicate. The combination of lowered tax rate and lowered valuation means simply that there is less money coming in to the General Fund.

II.—At the same time, expenditures in certain quarters have had to be increased, due to legislation passed by the State Legislature. This legislation is mandatory and expenses must be met from the General Fund, although there is no provision for a new source of revenue. These new requirements include: Workmen's Compensation to be paid by the City on all City employees, Police and Firemen's Pensions Fund, in which the City is required to match payments made by employees, Public Employees Retirement System, which has the same requirements as above, the 48 hour week for police which will necessitate the addition of three policemen to keep the service at its present level of service.

III.—In the City of Circleville, there are many homes where women are living alone. If our street lighting facilities are further curtailed, and the amount of police protection afforded is even more reduced from its present inefficiency, the dangers of house-breaking, burglary and personal molestation will be greatly increased. It is vitally necessary that Circleville provide adequate protection of the women and children who reside here.

IV.—Berger Hospital is an institution which has done an untold amount of good in this community. No matter how economically city hospitals are operated, they require money from the city treasury. It is our duty as citizens to preserve and increase the life-saving powers of the hospital.

VI.—Members of the Monday Club take an especial pride in our Public Library. In this instance, Circleville has a service far superior to that afforded its citizens by any neighboring city. Through the operation of the Book Truck, books are going out to one-third of the population of Pickaway County. The value of the Library in the Community is beyond reckoning in dollars and cents. We are resolved to preserve and increase the present high quality of library service.

As women of Circleville, we desire to further the cause of public service to the community. For this reason, above all, we purpose to vote for the tax levy and to support all other measures necessary for the maintenance of a high standard of public welfare. Our City and our City Schools must not deteriorate in service.

We respectfully submit to the City authorities the proposal that every item of public spending be subjected to close scrutiny and consideration in the interests of economical administration, and that matters of urgent necessity, such as the requirements for raising the efficiency of all public employees, and the consideration of such problems as the housing conditions in our city, meet with immediate attention.

Respectfully submitted,
Johnna T. Davis, Chairman

11 STATES SEND HUSKERS TO VIE FOR U. S. HONOR

TONICA, Ill., Nov. 3.—On the lush acres of the Theodore Schaffer farm, an estimated 75,000 persons gathered today to witness the corn belt's own "world series"—the National Corn Husking Contest.

Twenty-two contestants, the champions and runners-up from 11 states, were ready for the 80 minute battle—a grueling test both of conditioning and skill.

Floyd Wise, shucking before the home folk of La Salle County, was the favorite to win today by virtue of the phenomenal record he set in winning the Illinois championship Friday when, despite miserable weather conditions, he weighed in with 50.96 bushels, the best mark ever made in any state or national contest.

It was doubted, however, that Wise's record would be equaled today as the field in which he made it had a yield of 110 bushels to the acre, while the field the huskers worked today had an estimated yield of 85 bushels per acre.

A brisk wind yesterday dried out the field which was a quagmire Friday. Nevertheless, the competitors took a tip from Wise and had tennis shoes ready in the event of rain. Wise discarded his heavy farm boots Friday and slipped on a pair of canvas sneakers which kept him from miring so deeply in the sticky black mud.

HAMDEN, O., MAN TO FACE VINTON COUNTY CHARGE

A thirty-two-year-old man from Hamden came to police headquarters Saturday night to ask for lodging and a few minutes later was locked in the jail and held for the Vinton County sheriff.

The man gave his name as Mora Easter, and when Traffic Officer Miller Fissell asked him for his draft registration card he said he had none. A telephone call was put through to authorities in Easter's home town and it was

24 NAVY MEN STATIONED AT CHICAGO BECOME ILL

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Twenty-four of the 1,000 Navy men stationed at the Navy pier in Chicago were hospitalized and under observation today following a mysterious outbreak of "stomach disorders" among men at the pier.

Lt. Comdr. G. B. Turner, senior duty officer at the pier, where sailors are being trained as metal smiths and aviation machinists, said chemical analyses of food served to the men were being made in the belief one of the foods may have been responsible for the outbreak.

When first complaints began to be learned that the man was wanted there for having passed at least three bad checks.

Easter was turned over to the Vinton County sheriff Sunday.

be received last night, Commander Turner moved swiftly to round up all sailors on leave in the city. In five hours more than 400 men were returned to barracks for examination as the result of a mass "roundup" of bluejackets in the Chicago loop district. City police cooperated with naval authorities in the roundup.

Announcing OUR NEW SELF DEFENSE LOANS

"Did you say INTEREST FREE?"

"Yes, I said INTEREST FREE for the first three months of your loan!"

SELF-DEFENSE is one of the very best bulwarks of national defense. Defend yourself and you defend America. And so today, at this time of emergency in our national defense, we wish to announce our new "SELF-DEFENSE" loans... as a means of helping Ohio people to help themselves.

Just What is a "SELF-DEFENSE" loan?
It's a loan of any amount from $100 up to $1000 used for any helpful "Self-Defense" purpose, such as: 1. Buying needed merchandise and supplies. 2. Paying bills and obligations (except to lenders). 3. Making repairs and betterments. 4. Educational purposes. 5. Medical, dental and hospital services. Or for any other approved purpose.

And Here's the Best News of All.
Your "SELF-DEFENSE" loan is entirely interest free for the first three months. Think of it! A cash loan of $200 made to you today and repaid in three months doesn't cost you a single penny. Or you can repay in easy payments over as long as 18 months, and get the first three months free anyway.

There's No "Catch" To It.
After the three free months, The City Loan's standard interest rate applies, computed on the new low balance each month—same as always. Also the same liberal discounts for prompt payment will be continued. The one big change is that for the duration of the first three, long and most-expensive months a "SELF-DEFENSE" loan is absolutely interest free.

And Here's Something Else.
You will not only save three months' interest on merchandise and services acquired, but by dealing with cash, you can drive better bargains, gain better values and save money all the way around. So, fortify yourself by using this new "SELF-DEFENSE" service now, the first of its kind ever offered in this country... and it's yours for the asking at The City Loan.

We're all set to make 100's and 1000's of "SELF-DEFENSE" loans both in numbers and dollars. Anybody of good character with a good purpose and a steady income can get one. Just tell us how much you need.

WHY IS THE CITY RECEIVING LESS MONEY FROM REAL ESTATE TAXES THAN
IT DID IN 1930-31?

In 1931 Circleville received $55,725.75 in its General Fund from real estate tax.
In 1940 Circleville received $32,381.01 in its General Fund from real estate tax.
In 1941 Circleville expects to receive only about $27,000.00 from real estate tax, OR LESS THAN HALF IT RECEIVED IN 1931.

WHY????

In 1932 the 15 mill limitation was reduced 10 mills—1-3 less. In 1931 real estate valuation in Circleville was $7,764,310.00. In 1934 it was reappraised and today the real estate valuation is $6,224,460.00—MORE THAN $1,500,000.00 LESS PROPERTY ON WHICH TAXES ARE PAID.
In 1930 the tax rate was 19.70 mills or $19.70 per thousand—including county, township, schools and city. In 1941 the rate is 15.20 mills or $15.20 per thousand—$4.50 PER THOUSAND LESS.

THE TAX RATE IS NOT ONLY $4.50 PER THOUSAND LESS BUT THERE IS $1,500,000.00 LESS REAL ESTATE ON THE TAX DUPLICATE.

Taxes are no longer charged on household furnishings and automobiles by the City.

Intangible taxes all came to the City in 1930. Now 80% must go to the public library.

All utility taxes and beer, malt and admission taxes must be used for relief.

All gasoline and auto license tax revenues must go for the maintenance of streets in the City, and for no other purpose.

WHAT WILL THE TWO MILL LEVY COST
THE PEOPLE OF CIRCLEVILLE?

Persons who own a home which is valued on the tax duplicate for $500 will pay ONLY 8½ CENTS PER MONTH in 1942 and 1943.

Property valued at $1000 will be taxed ONLY 17 CENTS PER MONTH in 1942 and 1943.

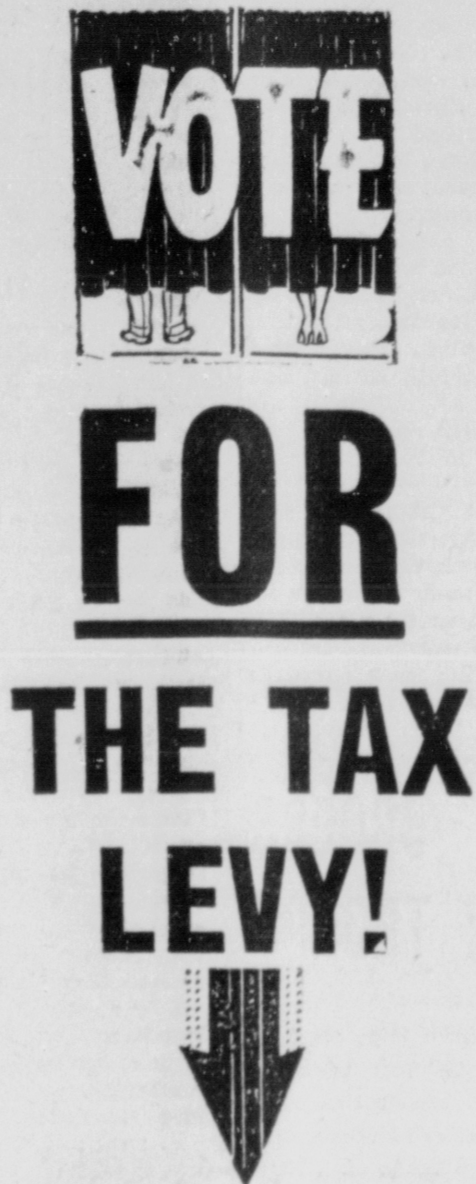

ISN'T IT WORTH THE COST OF A PACKAGE OF CIGARETTES PER $1000 VALUATION TO HAVE YOUR HOME, YOUR FAMILY AND YOUR FUTURE PROTECTED BY THE POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS—TO HAVE ADEQUATE STREET LIGHTS, SEWERS, AND FIRE HYDRANTS—AND TO HAVE THE USE OF THE MEMORIAL HALL AND PUBLIC LIBRARY? ALL FOR 17 CENTS PER MONTH PER $1000 VALUATION!!

How much will your landlord be justified in raising your rent if you are a tenant?

The following figures TELL THE STORY:

Tax Value of Property	Rent You Pay Now Per Month	New Taxes Per Month	Rent in 1942 and 1943
$ 500	$ 5.00	10 cents	$ 5.10
$ 800	$ 8.00	15 cents	$ 8.15
$1000	$10.00	20 cents	$10.20
$1500	$15.00	25 cents	$15.25
$2000	$20.00	35 cents	$20.35
$3000	$30.00	50 cents	$30.50

If the two mill levy does not pass and fire protection is reduced, your INSURANCE RATES WILL INCREASE MORE THAN THE AMOUNT OF THE ADDITIONAL TAX AND RENTS WILL BE HIGHER THAN THEY WOULD BE UNDER THE TWO MILL LEVY? ASK YOUR INSURANCE MAN IF THIS IS NOT A FACT!!!

WHY DOES IT COST MORE TO OPERATE THE CITY TODAY THAN IT DID 10 YEARS AGO?

1. Workmen's Compensation must be paid by state law on all city employees.
2. Police and Firemen's Pension Funds must be established under state law.
3. The Public Employees' Retirement Law requires the city to match payments made by city employees,—another state law.
4. Insurance laws required more firemen,—1 firemen for each 1000 population. We still need two more firemen in order to comply.
5. Police can only work 8 hours per day on a six day week by state law. This means that at times we only have ONE POLICEMAN ON DUTY as we do not have the money to employ more, and will not be able to pay for those we have.
6. Construction of new homes and industries means additional sewers, street lights and fire hydrants.
7. Berger Hospital, even though efficiently and economically operated, loses money each year as do all hospitals. This deficit must be paid each year.
8. As the city grows new streets and alleys must be created and surfaced. Increased automobile traffic means more maintenance.
9. The State Board of Health required the city to build a sewage disposal plant. Bonds were issued and must be paid back with interest. This means less money for operating and current expenses.

THUS NOT ONLY DOES THE CITY HAVE A BIGGER OPERATING COST BUT IT HAS ONLY HALF AS MUCH MONEY TO OPERATE ON. THIS MEANS THAT EITHER MORE MONEY MUST BE OBTAINED OR THE CITY GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE TO VIRTUALLY GO OUT OF BUSINESS!!! THERE IS NO OTHER ANSWER.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF THE TWO MILL LEVY
DOES NOT PASS?

If the two mill levy for two years does not pass, all city departments will have to be seriously reduced. Policemen will either have to work part time without pay or be dismissed. The fire department personnel will have to be reduced. At least every other street light will have to be turned out completely even though more light is needed now. No money for light, heat, janitor or water will be available for Memorial Hall or the public library. Some of the nurses at Berger Hospital will have to work part time without pay or be dismissed. No sewers or additional fire hydrants can be installed. Equipment at the Fire Department and Police Department will go without replacement or repair. Persons without money will be unable to obtain medical or hospital aid. The city Health Department will be curtailed with suffering the only result by those unable to afford a doctor.

IF YOU WANT THESE SERVICES TO BE CONTINUED AND IMPROVED THE TWO MILL LEVY MUST PASS. TALK TO YOUR NEIGHBOR, YOUR GROCER, YOUR FRIENDS. THEN GO WITH THEM TO THE POLLS ON TUESDAY AND craft was believed to have struck at the base of Telis' Peak, 25 miles west of Lake Tahoe. It was enroute from Salt Lake City to Sacramento, Cal.

A weather jinx pursuing the 57th Pursuit Squadron took the lives of Lieuts. Arthur Streckman and Thomas L. Traux. Both died instantly when their P-40 ships burst into fragments against Bald Hill, across the Golden Gate from San Francisco. Another pilot from the squadron, Lieut. Walter Radovitch, broke his leg when he parachuted after becoming lost. The wreck of his plane has not been located.

Long overdue were a training ship from March Field, in southern California, piloted by Lieut. A. B. Dannel with Lieut. R. D. Leimbacker as passenger, and another trainer flown by Lieut. Robert E. Agnew.

The newest tragedies in its ranks leave the ill-fated 57th Pursuit Squadron with only ten of the 25 ships that started from Windsor Locks, Conn., several weeks ago for a journey to war games held last week in the Pacific northwest.

Ten days ago they were caught in a storm in California and five of the ships crashed. One pilot was killed and another still is missing.

The flying fortress, after being grounded by bad weather Saturday, took off from Reno at 11:05 a. m. Sunday. An hour later it began to break up as it flew through a snow storm at an elevation of 12,000 feet. The two men who first landed safely reported that they had been thrown free. They saw the remnants of the bomber vanish into the clouds below as they parachuted to earth.

Organized Searchers

They were guided to the Georgetown ranger station by a woodcutter, and immediately organized the searching party which set out for a difficult 20-mile hike to the point where it is believed that the bomber crashed.

Army authorities also still were hunting for Lieut. Richard N. Long, of Connellsville, Pa., the pursuit pilot missing since the 57th Pursuit Squadron's first mass mishap occurred ten days ago.

DAYTON, Nov. 3—A board of inquiry from Wright Field today was to probe the crash of a twin-motored Army bomber on the L. L. Clymer farm near Findlay which killed five fliers.

Witnesses said the plane came down with terrific speed at a 45-degree angle, tore up 150 feet of fence as it plowed along the field, and then exploded, scattering its wreckage over more than an acre.

The victims were identified as Lt. T. W. Bafford, Orlando, Fla.; pilot; Lt. George W. Smith, Asheville, N. C.; co-pilot; Sgt. Lee Chambers, Hinsdale, N. Y., and two civil service employees of Patterson Field, Robert Hareman, of Dayton, and John D. Southard, of Springfield.

The plane had been on a routine flight testing automatic equipment. It was the fourth ship to crash recently after taking off from Patterson Field.

ranian was set on fire. All planes returned safely.

KUIBYSHEV—Soviet authorities today looked forward to a period of peace along the frequently embattled outer Mongolia-Manchukuo frontier as a result of the new Russo-Japanese demarcation agreement. Vice Foreign Commissar S. A. Lozovsky said the frontier now is clearly marked along a 160-mile length between Bulgnor and Khalkinghol.

PARIS—The Paris Zeitung said today that two hostages held by German authorities at Brussels, Belgium, and Nantes, France, have been released because their relatives furnished police "valuable information and clues regarding assassins of German officers."

peanuts and the other for carrying out soil building practices. Soil building allowance rates were announced last July and remain the same except that the 70 cent per acre used as a basis for computing the allowances will apply generally rather than only in certain areas.

The payment rates for 1942, based on normal yield of allotted acreages, together with the 1941 rates follow:

Corn (commercial area), per bushel, 1941, nine cents, 1942, eight cents; cotton, per pound 1.25 and 1.37 C; wheat, per bushel, 10.5 and 8 cents; rice, per 100-pounds, 3 and 5c; peanuts, per ton, $1.45 and $2.25; potatoes (commercial) per bushel, 2 and 2.3c; flue cured tobacco, per pound 0.7 and 0.8c; burley tobacco, per pound 0.7 and 0.8 C; fire-cured tobacco, per pound 1.4 and 1.5 C; dark air-cured tobacco, per pound 0.9 and 1.0C.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Department economists forecast that the U. S. fall and winter output of food will be the largest in history, assuring an ample supply for both this country and Great Britain.

Summer harvests, it was pointed out, reached an all-time high, and the number of livestock on farms for the production of meats, milk, eggs and other products is at peak figures.

An even greater production for the "food-for-freedom" campaign is called for in 1942.

NAVY GIVEN 290 MORE BOATS FOR SERVICE AT SEA

President Puts Name On Order Sending Coast Guard Into Action

ed the Navy to clear the seas of German U-boats, which he referred to as "rattlesnakes." It put teeth, too, into Secretary of Navy Knox's declaration Saturday that this country is in the undeclared naval war in the Atlantic to the finish.

Some coast guard cutters already had been assigned to the Navy. One of them was stationed at Lisbon, Portugal, and at least two others were patrolling sea lanes "somewhere near Greenland."

With the transfer of the entire coast guard, any of its ships can now carry out President Roosevelt's shoot-on-sight order, which was given to the Navy some time ago.

Locations Secret

Navy circles said the order probably would allow the Navy to maintain its present strength in the Pacific despite the growing naval warfare in the Atlantic. The Navy at present has approximately 17 battleships, six aircraft carriers, 37 cruisers, 171 destroyers, 113 submarines and some 4,100 planes, but just how many are in the Atlantic or Pacific is the most closely guarded military secret in Washington.

The act setting up the coast guard, which was created in 1915, provides:

"The coast guard shall constitute a part of the military forces of the United States and shall operate under the Treasury Department in time of peace, and operate as a part of the Navy in time of war, or when the President shall so direct."

There were no administrative difficulties encountered in the actual transfer, since the coast guard had been cooperating with the Navy since the neutrality patrol was started in 1939, and apparently had expected the transfer order.

OUR BIG JOB

IT IS hard for Americans to realize, even yet, the size of the job that has to be done if we want a free world. Some notion may be gained from the plans of our defense chiefs at Washington. They are figuring on an expenditure of $100,000,000 in the next two or two and a half years. The material items include 25,000 long-range bombers, 125,000 war planes and ordinary bombers, and tens of thousands of tanks.

This immense outlay is not just to lick Hitler. It is to beat the biggest criminal conspiracy ever undertaken in human history, a conspiracy to grab, enslave and exploit the whole world and all the people in it. Until lately any such notion as this would have been considered ridiculous or crazy. But in view of the progress already made in world conquest, and the growing boldness of the conquerors and clearness of their aims, it is no longer a laughing matter. If the nervous little man with the funny mustache defeats the Russians, he will have half the world already in his hands.

NAZIISM BEYOND GERMANY

FORMER Premier Hertzog of the Union of South Africa made a revealing statement at the recent congress of the Afrikaner Party at Cape Town. First he declared his own support of Naziism. Then he explained that Naziism "is not the exclusive product of any particular country or people." In his country, he says, it is "an Afrikaan national tradition and custom as old as the Afrikaan people."

"Afrikaan" or "Afrikaander" is simply the Dutch form of "African." It refers not to native blacks but to white persons born in South Africa, especially the Boers. The striking part of Mr. Hertzog's speech was his description of Naziism as having no local or racial limitation. The world has known for some time now that there were people in all the conquered lands who were willing to play the dictator's game for their own advancement. They have usually been regarded at home and abroad as traitors. Mrs. Hertzog puts the thing in a light new to many Americans. He supports Naziism not as a German product but as a South African theory of government.

This is one reason why defeating Hitler will not alone be enough to save the democracies. Freedom-loving people everywhere must prove their own govern-

FRANKLIN JR., INSPIRED BLOW

WASHINGTON — There was an inside reason why Roosevelt spoke with particular vigor when, in his Navy Day speech, he declared: "Our nation will and must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine—in our vast machine."

That reason, he told the Arkansas congressional delegation next morning, was the fact that his son, Franklin, had telephoned him from Iceland just before he made his speech.

"Franklin told me that the boys on his ship were very much concerned about the coal strike called by John L. Lewis," the President informed the Arkansas congressmen.

"He said: 'Pop, there's not a man on my ship who isn't 100 percent behind you in opening up the coal mines. They all want you to go after John L. Lewis because they're ready to give their lives for their country, if necessary, and they believe that the folks back home should do their part by keeping defense production going at top speed. And that goes for me, too, Pop.'"

The President's voice showed that he had been moved by his son's phone call; and Representative E. C. ("Took") Gathings, also deeply moved, replied: "You tell young Franklin and those other fine young Americans with him that Congress won't let them down. And we won't permit Lewis or anyone else to let them down, Mr. President."

"Thanks, Took," the President replied, "Lewis's position is indefensible. He can make all the high-flown speeches he wants to about Wall Street, but he can't deny that he, John L. Lewis, is obstructing the defense program by closing those mines."

"Unfortunately, there isn't much that I, as President, can do about it if Lewis refuses to cooperate. There was no difficulty in taking over the strike-closed Kearny shipyard and in sending the Army to keep order in that West Coast airplane plant."

"In both cases the majority of the employees wanted to work. But Lewis wields such control over union miners that the only way we can deal effectively with this coal strike, and prevent similar strikes in the future, is through legislation."

CAPITAL CHAFF

Ex-Democratic National Secretary Chip Robert flew to Washington from Florida last week with a patch over one eye and a small printed card which he handed to friends. "I was helping an old crippled lady off the airplane at Jacksonville," the card read, "when her crutch slipped and hit me in the eye. If you don't believe this, ask Evie; she doesn't either." Evie is Mrs. Robert. . . . Justice Department officials are bemoaning the coming retirement of Judge Charles Cavanaugh of Idaho, close friend of the late Senator Borah, and one

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—

ASSISTANT STATE SECRETARY BRECKINRIDGE LONG'S recent surmise, in a broadcast in this country but evidently picked up in Europe also, that Herr Hitler is maneuvering preliminarily, with a view to taking all-out possession of Italy presently, appears to have scored more of a bulls-eye than Breck, maybe, expected. Anyway, cabled quotations from Italian newspapers indicate that the Fascist press is literally wild with indignation at the suggestion.

Editor Virginio Gayda of the Giornale d'Italia is the key-note, but all his fellow scribes throughout Signor Mussolini's realm are joining in the chorus of vituperation.

Secretary Long's guess was that Adolf the Fuehrer is borrowing Duce "emito's military manpower away from him wholesale, not so much because he needs help in Russia as to drain Benito's country of its soldiers to an extent that'll make it powerless to resist invasion by the Nazi forces. Spokesman Gayda and the rest of the editorialists take the position that State Secretary Hull's assistant deliberately and maliciously wove this yarn out of whole cloth for the purpose of making the Italian masses suspicious of their German partners to the point of forcing the Rome government to cut loose from the Axis.

Whether or not this diagnosis is correct, Breck isn't telling; his obvious cue's to stand pat for the accuracy of his prediction. If he did make up his story out of his own head, though, the indications are that it's accomplishing just the result the Italian editors say he invented it to accomplish—that is, that the Italian people generally believe it and are getting plenty wobbly in their Axis alignment.

VIOLENCE SUGGESTIVE

The editors, to be sure, don't manifest any wobblyness. Contrarywise, they deny emphatically that Adolf is borrowing from Benito appreciably and vociferously proclaim the Fascists' loyalty to the Nazis. The very violence with which they're doing it, however, hints at a realization, on their part, of the existence of a lot of public sentiment to be counteracted.

In a free country the press, of course, largely reflects what the nation's inhabitants are thinking and saying, but in totalitarian lands, as everyone's aware, the newspapers print what they're told to print and don't print what they're warned not to.

Radio broadcasts, from outside, naturally are more difficult for a dictatorial government to control. They can and do prohibit listening in on such stuff as Breck Long got off. Doing so is pretty generally capital punishable. Nevertheless, it's evident that a good bit of it's done, or the Italian papers would not have to be making such a hullabaloo in contradiction of Breck's talk.

One thing that Editor Gayda & Co. don't dwell on is the circumstance that Adolf double-crossed Joe Stalin exactly as Breck forecasts that he'll double-cross Benito when he considers the time

Since he turned on Partner Joe without a minute's notice, why isn't he liable to turn on Partner Benito just as abruptly? That probably is what a good many Italians asked themselves when Breck furnished 'em with the idea. It's a question that it might be desirable for the editorial bunch to answer, if they could do it satisfactorily. How CAN they do it satisfactorily, though, considering that Adolf certainly DID turn on Josef?

The present reas outburst from Rome, Milan and thereabouts isn't, indeed, the first intimation that Washington's had of considerable discontent on Benito's peninsula.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE—

News from there is both skimpy and unreliable but, for quite awhile, rumors have been current of an undercurrent of popular, though very rigidly hushed-up growing. Apparently the Fuehrer has sensed some of it, for it's said his secret agents are busy as bird dogs from the Alps to the Mediterranean.

One account was that Hitler didn't think Benito was keeping the situation in hand at all competently and suggested having his GESTAPO take entire charge of the policing of the country, but that Benito objected, on the ground that it would make him ridiculous. The GESTAPO proposition having been turned down, Breck Long's bet is that now Adolf's fixing for an all-out invasion and the grabbing of everything. He surely stirred up the journalistic animals.

DIET AND HEALTH

Keep Weight Normal by "Maintenance Diet"

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● We present this week one diet list every day of a scientifically worked-out reducing diet. Anyone who has missed the diets printed daily during the last six weeks

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

can begin now and then go back to the others. (Copies of a pamphlet on "A Three-Weeks Reducing Diet" will be mailed on request, enclosing ten cents.)

The final week's diets are a little lower in calorie value than the former ones, because we want you to lose as much as possible while you are on a strict schedule. As I have said before, the benefits of dieting come not so much gradually or continuously, but in jumps, usually at the end of ten days or three-week periods.

To repeat once more, you are not supposed to go on a spree after this diet period is over, and eat anything you want. If you are overweight and have a "tendency" to fat, it is ten to one that the "tendency" is due to eating too much. So plan your future eating habits on the basis of a "maintenance diet," avoiding the excessive use of the fattening foods which are sugar, candy, bread, cereal, macaroni, spaghetti, pastry, pies, cakes, potatoes, beans, corn, butter, gravies, salad oils, cream soups and meats high in fats—such as pork, lamb chops and bacon.

Cut Down Fats

You need not cut these out altogether, but go easy on them. One slice of bread with a light coating of butter is enough at any meal for anybody. And a garnishing of gravy rather than a drowning is enough. The same applies to salad dressings and cream sauces. Of course, it is the fats that give most taste to foods, and the temptation is very great, but remember Jack Sprat is always represented in the pictures as being thin, and that is a sound physiologic deduction.

THIRD THREE-WEEK DIET PERIOD FALL REDUCING DIET—MONDAY

Black coffee or tea with lemon.

Dinner:

A Ride in a Paper Boat

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

THERE WAS a baby specialist from Boston. Win had sent for him. There was a trained nurse. There were Win and Minerva moving silently, anxiously about the house. The telephone bell was muffled, footsteps on tip-toes echoed loudly through the halls of the house where a tiny flame of life flickered in desperate struggle for survival.

In the bedroom that seemed so disproportionately huge to house the little crib where Letitia lay, Hallie sat hour after hour, with her heart in her eyes and a desperate prayer in her heart.

Sometimes she dozed from sheer fatigue and the nurse led her, half asleep to a couch, and covered her with a blanket. Minerva called upon all her skill to prepare the trays that Hallie sent away scarcely tasted.

The baby had pneumonia. The terrible disease was an implacable enemy, advancing step by step, and there were no warriors to resist in the little body that had never been strong. Medical skill, prayer, and love fought the enemy with all its meager powers, but its shadows were crushingly near.

Winthrop Adams' heart ached with the wish to comfort Hallie, but she lived now within the shell of her terrible expectancy and it was beyond human power to reach and comfort her.

The frustrated wish gave rise to anger. Win would have gladly thrashed Eric into the mold of what he should have been. If Win had dared, he would have brought Hallie's tired head to rest against his comforting shoulder. But that was Eric's place, and Eric was flying to Honduras. And Win blamed himself for that. He had somehow failed.

And then Eric came back, arriving calmly in the middle of the night, saying, "Is the baby okay?" "You young fool!" he said. "Hallie's been through hell while you've been on a holiday. Your child is dying. It's got one chance in a million of pulling through. You'd better get a pretty good story ready for Hallie."

"Same old Win, aren't you? Minding my business. I'll know what to tell Hallie."

But when Eric saw her, saw the waxen form of the baby, he could only touch Hallie's hand and say, "Honey, honey, I didn't know it was this bad."

Hallie looked at him with no interest and she said nothing. Her tortured glance went back to the baby.

"I'll tell you all about it when the baby gets well."

Hallie didn't say anything for a long time and then, tonelessly, she said, "The baby isn't going to get well. If I could only breathe life into her again . . ." Her voice broke.

Win turned away blindly from the door. Eric ran his fingers through his hair. "I'm going outside for a smoke," he mumbled.

No one stopped him. Minerva spoke not one word to him. It was 4 o'clock that morning when the flame flickered out. The baby gave a tiny sigh and the light was extinguished forever.

Hallie knew. It was as if her own heart gave that gentle sigh and then died.

Eric and Win stood beside her. Eric put his hands over his face and his shoulders moved with a deep sob.

But Win lifted the stricken mother and said gently, "Come, Hallie. I'm going to give you something to make you sleep."

Hallie didn't cry. She lay in the big bed and looked at the ceiling, all life drained out of her. Days and nights, sunshine and storms, they came and passed and she seemed not to know it.

The funeral was over and Eric had to get back to his new job. "Hallie, you just take it easy for a few days. You'd better stay here. I've got to get back. I'm flying out to Arizona, but I'll be back in ten days. I'll come and get you."

Hallie said, "I'm not going back."

"Good! It's much better for you to stay here until you feel like facing things."

"There isn't anything to face," she said in the strange toneless way in which she had spoken since the baby died.

"Of course there isn't. You stay around here with Minerva to look after you. It's pretty hot in New York anyway."

Hallie looked at him with mild surprise. Eric didn't understand, but she couldn't make the effort so that he would.

It was Win who knew that it was wrong for Hallie to stay on in East Lynbrook. Some instinct told him that it was wrong for her to stay where every blade of grass, every falling tree shadow would remind her of the days she had spent there with the baby.

Hallie had to go away. Win would have taken her to the mountains, to the seashore, if he had dared suggest it. But that was Eric's place and Eric would never know what his place was.

Win talked to Louise Fennell on the long distance telephone.

"I'll help. I'll do anything I can, Win," Louise said. "I'd love to have Hallie come to our cottage, but my happiness and my son would only remind her too poignantly of her own misery. But wait, I have an idea. I'll talk to Sue Amberson."

And so three days later Sue pulled up outside the Adams' house in her station wagon.

She said, "I'll take no protests, Hallie. I've found the most beautiful shack in the world for painting. It's on the rockbound coast of Maine, and I mean rockbound! I can't paint and cook at the same time, and I'm going crazy for the want of someone to talk to."

"I wouldn't be much use," Hallie protested feebly.

"That's what you think. Come along and see."

Sue's place was a shack, but it had a big stone hearth and mattresses of pine boughs. It had woods in back of it and the cold, sparkling waters of the bay in front. There was nothing to see and nothing to do that reminded Hallie of what had just been—except the awful hollow in her heart.

Sue said they acted "like a couple of Boy Scouts." But the fishing in streams and bay, the meals cooked outdoors, the long hikes, the fragrant sleep-drenched nights, brought life back to Hallie. The pinched look went away from her nostrils. The hollows in her cheeks filled out. Her limbs hardened from exercise and she found that anticipation still ran through her veins.

She cooked and washed the dishes, made up their bunks, read to Sue while Sue painted, played intelligence games with Sue at night and wished that their life like that might go on forever.

Sue said, "I've always avoided holidays with dames. Women just don't wear well on each other's nerves. But you're tops, Hallie. This has been swell."

Hallie licked apple pie from her fingertips. She said, "Sue, I've been thinking. You're not going back to your old studio this year, are you?" Sue said, "No. I'm getting tired of living with my work. I thought I'd take an apartment and hire a studio outside somewhere. Why?"

Hallie said, "There are two bedrooms in my house in Stuyvesant square."

"I know that, but you're not taking in roomers."

"No. I just thought that you and I might carry on this arrangement."

"But Eric . . ."

"I am not going to live with Eric any more. That's done, Sue."

RENT BOOSTS NOT JUSTIFIED

Passing of Two Mill Levy Adds Only $10 A Year to Tax Assessed Against $5,000 Property in City

Some Circleville renters have voiced fear of increased rents in the event that the two mill levy for the City is passed at the election next Tuesday. This is a misapprehension, for rent increases will not be justified by this proposed tax increase.

The increased cost to the owner of a $1,000 property, for instance, would be only $2 a year. The $2,000 property owner would pay $4 a year, and so on at the rate of $2 for each additional thousand dollars for which the property is listed on the tax duplicate.

Do not be fooled by any claim that the two mill city levy would force higher rents for the city.

About This And That In Many Sports

With the end of the football season just a little over a week away, Coach Roy Black's Tigers are hard at work for their invasion of Grove City Friday night when Pete Trego's Greyhounds will provide the opposition. . . . The season closes Tuesday, November 11, Armistice Day, when speedy Paul Kappes and his Holy Rosary boys from Columbus invade the local ballpark. . . . Some of the Tiger squadmen saw Grove City play a scoreless tie Saturday night with Groveport. . . . The Greyhounds are tall, they have weight in numerous positions and speed in others, and they have a hard-hitting halfback in the person of Fred Russell, Negro, who does the punting and the passing in addition to backing up the line and doing most of the ball carrying. . . . Russell rates high in Franklin County scoring circles this year, and will be a threat against the Tigers every time he totes the leather. * * * * *

With exception of a few bruises, the Red and Black lads came out of their Washington C. H. flasco without injury. . . . Johnny Woods cut his hand on a piece of glass, but a bandage will take care of that. * * * * *

It seems that Washington C. H. backed into a tie with Greenfield McClain for the league title. . . . McClain won two and was tied twice, making it one point each for the victories and one-half point each for the ties. . . . The Blue Lions won three and lost one, getting a point for each of the victories and a deadlock with McClain. . . . But in this book Greenfield is tops, its 14-0 defeat of Washington C. H. being the convincer. * * * * *

Even Mr. Waldorf Claims Grid Officials In Error

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 3.—For the first time in his seven years as head football coach at Northwestern, Lynn Waldorf today complained about a defeat—that 8 to 7 affair which Minnesota won from the Wildcats Saturday at Minneapolis.

Waldorf's complaint was in connection with Minnesota's touchdown, which he asserted was illegal and should not have been allowed.

The Gopher touchdown came in the third period, with Northwestern ahead by 7 to 2. Minnesota had the ball on Northwestern's 41-yard stripe, and after a reverse play had been stopped for no gain, the Gophers returned to the line of scrimmage and, without their customary huddle, lined up quickly. The ball was snapped before the Wildcats knew what was cooking, and Halfback Bud Higgins tore down the sidelines to pay dirt.

This play, said Waldorf, was illegal. He explained:

"Both my observers in the press box tell me that Minnesota was not lined up legally. The rules require seven men to be on the line of scrimmage, and the manner in which it was run off makes it almost impossible that the rules had been lived up to on this play. Unfortunately, I was not in a position to observe it, and our cameraman did not start taking pictures until Higgins had begun to run. But I am quite confident it was not a legal play."

Waldorf also claimed that Northwestern's first touchdown, which was not allowed, should have been permitted to stand. Officials ruled that one Northwestern lineman was not on the scrimmage line when the play was called, nullifying the play.

"All through the game," Waldorf stated, "Minnesota had men ahead of eligible receivers, but no penalties were called on them."

"It was as poorly officiated game as I have ever seen. I am not taking anything away from the great Minnesota team and I am proud of the way our boys played. But it is tough to have them fight their hearts out like they did and then lose on technicalities and inefficiency."

TWO STRONG PRO TEAMS THUMPED IN BIG UPSETS

By International News Service

Chaos reigned today in the National Professional Football League and the burden of battle rested heavily on the once proud Chicago Bears and New York Giants. The Bears and Packers were toppled from the pacesetters' posts in the Western and Eastern Divisions, respectively, by startling upsets yesterday that tossed the pennant pursuit into a tailspin.

The Giants bowed out to the Chicago Cardinals, a team that had won only a single game and had the citizenry wondering whether it would ever win another. It was taken for granted, of course, that the Giants would overwhelm the Cardinals up until the jaunt Chicagoans staged the No. 1 surprise of the league campaign and bested New York, 10 to 7.

Being a mighty team by general consensus, the Green Bay Packers thumped the Bears, 16 to 14. Defeat of the defending champions was less humiliating, perhaps, than the Giants' loss, but certainly no more costly.

Green Bay replaced Chicago as leaders of the Western Division by virtue of the victory, and the Washington Redskins, who trounced Pittsburgh, climbed ahead of the Giants in the eastern branch when New York lost to the Chicago Cards.

The Bears today had the chance to pull themselves back to the top next week in a game against hapless Cleveland while the Packers are idling. In the Eastern Division, however, the fight for a play-off position appeared destined to surge onward, at least until November 23, when the Redskins and Giants collide head-on.

BULLIES SURE OF TITLE SHARE IN PRO LEAGUE

By International News Service

The Columbus Bulls today were assured of nothing worse than a deadlock for season honors in the American Professional Football League.

The Bulls overwhelmed Buffalo, 24 to 7, while the usually placid Milwaukee Chiefs virtually knocked the New York Americans, only other serious title contender, out of the race.

Bob Davis' 62-yard touchdown run and his pass to Glenn Olsen, good for 42 yards and another of the Bulls' crossings, sparked the Columbus triumph.

Milwaukee's wild aerial bombardment netted their lone touchdown and Bob Eckel converted the extra point that toppled New York, 7 to 6. A passing attack launched from their own 12 in the third period ended over the Amers' goal line when John Maltch flipped to Mack Berry for the touchdown. New York's scores came in the first and final periods on field goals by Phil Martinovich.

TEXAS, GOPHERS LOOM AS BEST GRID MACHINES

Longhorns Run Over SMU; Minnesota Bests Cats; Fordham Goes On

By Jack Mahon

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Gen. Mud and his petty officers, General Rain and Nuisance, were in full charge of national football maneuvers over the week end, but none of them could stop the thundering herd of Texas University Longhorns from stampeding into the No. 1 spot in the race for the collegiate championship of 1941. Exactly five of the country's major clubs had their perfect records spoiled Saturday but today, as the teams looked forward to the stretch drive in their respective districts, Fordham was tops in the East; Minnesota was the king of the mid west; Duke was No. 1 in the south; Missouri was the leader of the Big Six; Stanford was going strong on the west coast and Texas and Texas A. & M. were still pacing the field in the southwest with the former favored, not only to win its conference, but also to become the outstanding college team in the country.

The Texans, under their fifth season with Dana X. Bible, proved one of the greatest powerhouses in the history of their school by routing Southern Methodist, 34-0.

Army Halts Irish

Because of the steady rain and horrible playing conditions, football next to nothing in the east. An under-dog Army team, unbeaten, stole most of the glory out of the gloom by holding a likewise undefeated and highly regarded Notre Dame club to a scoreless tie in New York. Navy, which had been similarly held the previous week by an under-rated Harvard team, bounced back and handed Penn its first defeat, 13 to 6, at Philadelphia while Fordham, racing through the gumbo as if they loved it, had no trouble trouncing Purdue, 17-0, not even yielding a single first down to the Boilermakers.

One of the biggest upsets of the day took place in Boston where Boston College recovered some of the form it flashed last season to trounce previously undefeated Temple 31-0 while in the south, slow-starting Tulane finally rolled and blasted Vanderbilt's league leading Commodores from the list of the unbeaten, 34-14.

The Golden Gophers of Minnesota put together a safety and a touchdown to nose out Northwestern, 8 to 7 for the 14th win in a row, over the last two years, and virtually clinched the Big Ten title while Texas A. & M. and Duquesne, the only other major unbeaten clubs in the country, kept their slates clean by defeating Arkansas and Villanova, respectively.

William and Mary upset Dartmouth, in a non-conference game, and kept pace with Duke as leader of the Southern Conference while Mississippi State continued to set the pace in the Southeastern Circuit. Missouri, which likewise had an easy time with non-conference Michigan State, continues to lead the Big Six.

Stanford, its "T" formation clicking for the first time this year on a muddy field, really looked like the team that swept to Rose Bowl glory last November's afternoon in trouncing Santa Clara, 27-7 in the main game of the day on the west coast. The Indians once more are favored to win the Rose Bowl bid.

EMERY CLUB INVITES BOYS TO GYMNASIUM

Any youngsters who wish to try out for the Emery Club basketball team are urged to report Monday evening at St. Philip's Parish House. Harold Dumm is seeking to form a combination of the city's younger boys.

NOTICE TO ATHLETES!

Ex-high school athletes are urged to report at the Blue and White Malted Milk Shop Monday evening where a C.A.C. Junior basketball team will be formed. Marion Smith is in charge of getting the squad lined up.

Roy Binion's Hereford To Be Exhibited At Chicago International

Pickaway County's first entry for the 1941 International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show, to be held in Chicago Stock Yards November 29, to December 6, has been made by Theodore Binion of Lockbourne Monday.

The 1,050 pound Hereford steer, entered in the Pumpkin Show by Binion's son, Roy, was judged the Grand Champion steer of the show this year, giving the youth a trip to the International Exposition where he will have an opportunity to see his own steer on exhibit.

C. B. Teegardin and Sons of Ashville also have entered the International Show. Last year Teegardins possessed the grand champion bull of the show.

Other local representatives who will make the trip to Chicago are Lois Defenbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Defenbaugh of Salt Creek Township and Donald Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoover of Ashville. Lois was winner in the Anus class at the Pumpkin Show and Donald winner in the Shorthorn class. The three winners are being sent to Chicago by John W. Eshelman and Sons, the Ralston Purina Company and the Circleville Lumber Company.

The forthcoming exhibition will celebrate its 42nd annual renewal at the largest agricultural show in the country. Held in conjunction with the exposition in the International Grain and Hay Show, world's largest farm crops show. It will be the 23rd anniversary of this event.

According to the management, entries have thus far been received from prospective exhibitors in 28 states and Canada.

SPORTSMEN MAY HAVE VOICE IN FISHING RULES

Advises from Conservation Commissioner Don Waters point out that fishermen of this county may have a direct and effective part in adoption of fishing regulations for next year, through the local Conservation Committee made up of representatives of farmers and sportsmen.

A meeting will be held at the Elks Home Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and the actions adopted locally will be passed on to the district committee and thence to the Conservation Commission by delegates to the annual public hearing to be held in Columbus, Tuesday, December 9.

The questionnaires, which may be had from Conservation Officer C. E. Webb, or from officers of the Conservation Committee, ask fishermen some questions about safety zones for fish, sanctuaries, live bait, frog and turtle regulations, motor boats, open and closed seasons, creel limits, etc. On answers to these questions the Conservation Commission will base regulations adopted for next year, and every interested person is urged to register his convictions.

The state hearing is being held a month earlier this year to give needed time to have fishing regulation leaflets printed prior to the opening of the season next year. Also during the meeting the Sportsman's Club is expected to discuss plans for the opening of the hunting season on November 15.

U. S. AND IRAN RAILROAD
There's a long secret story behind the final decision to send U. S. railroad experts to repair the railroad through Iran to the Caucasus—a story which reflects no credit upon the way war strategy is being handled.

For a long time it has been planned to send U. S. supplies from Barsa, at the head of the Gulf of Persia, by rail through Iran (Persia) and then to the Russian army defending the vital oil fields of the Caucasus. So when Averell Harriman was in London, he cabled the American Minister in Teheran, capital of Iran, asking for details regarding the rail line.

Harriman got the report with reasonable promptness. But it failed to be very specific about one all-important fact—namely, a gap in the railroad of 170 miles. Before this key line reaches the Caucasus, it stops. Then 170 miles further north it resumes, and winds its way on to the Caucasus. Reason for the sickly and half-grown condition of the railroad is that the Shah of Iran had located his hunting estates in the opposite direction. So he built one full-fledged line through his estates and never finished the line west to Russia.

The finished line goes to the south shore of the Caspian Sea. But there is no harbor at its terminus, and the sea there is so shallow that no large ships can come in. So this spur is impossible.

Only alternative is to send motor trucks to Iran to bridge 170 miles between rail lines. This is why such a tremendous number of trucks is being shipped to the Gulf of Persia. With Hitler's armies in South Russia encroaching on the Caucasus, supplies have to be rushed at any cost. Furthermore, the British have a large number of troops which can join the Russians—if there is any means of transporting them.

However, transportation by truck will be pitifully slow, and building 170 miles of rail will be even slower. Meanwhile eyebrows have been raised in the War Department as to why the British didn't get busy regarding this rail line when they entered Iran last summer.

Your Election Of These Four Men—

Elect men who can and will be guided by the best interest of the entire community.

After election many candidates for political office are so bound by previous commitments to various small groups that often they are prevented from acting for the public good. Now, as never before, must we be sure that our elected officials are not bound by pre-election promises to individuals or groups that do not represent all the people of the city.

The following candidates pledge to the citizens of the City of Circleville that they have made no promises or commitments of any kind to any individual or group of individuals except that they will, if elected, in every instance be fair and do what appears to be for the best interest of the entire community.
